Take 23 Oil Leases Near Santa Ana

RAMSEY IN FIELD AND CONTRACTS FOR LANDS

Large Operator Becomes Active In Territory East of Greenville District

ATTRACTIVE OFFERS ARE MADE OWNERS

When Drilling Will Begin on Newly-Secured Property Is Not Stated

COINCIDENT with the announcement yesterday that the Standard Oil company has been quietly picking up oil leases in the Greenville district, comes word that Walter R. Ramsey, one of the largest mid-continent and California individual oil operators, has been taking leases on the east of Greenville secured by the Standard and as far south as the Palerino district.

Twenty-three leases had been secured up to yesterday by agents for Ramsey, it was reported from a reliable source. A total of more than 500 acres has been secured by Ramsey for a period of from two to five years. The contents of the contracts are not known, but it is understood that attractive offers were made to property holders in the district.

J. H. Macklin, prominent oil operator of Huntington Beach, and J. J. Whiteley, associated with Ramsey, have been securing the leases for Ramsey during the last several weeks.

Other concerns interested in the oil leases have been taken up in this same district by a number of other companies it was reported. The Marland Oil company and several others are understood to be interested in the promised new field.

That an oil strike in this district is possible, was indicated by the quietness of the securing of the leases and the huge holdings taken by the large companies.

How soon oil operations will commence and upon what property they will begin is not known. It is understood that individual leases were made, and the owner of the property will be the one benefited by the development work.

Discussion was rife here today as to possible result of the discovery of oil in the district lying so closely to Santa Ana. Oil operations, it is said, should be started, Santa Ana will double in population in two years.

Cheap fuel, additional transportation facilities, excellent factory sites, facilities and money for the development of Orange County harbor, steam and electric railroads, and the oil field, and a huge increase in real estate values in and about Santa Ana, are among the many things prophesied in the event oil is discovered in this district.

Ramsey to Arrive Soon

Ramsey is expected to arrive here in the near future from Oklahoma City to take active charge of drilling.

With the leases taken in the Greenville district by the Standard Oil company and eastern locations already secured by the Ramsey interests, several other leases are understood to be in the course of negotiation by both companies.

The Standard is understood to have already signed the R. L. Tedford and Lawrence Wakeham properties at the corner of Greenville and Wakeham roads, near the Greenville schoolhouse.

Directly east of this property, Macklin and Whiteley have secured leases on property ranging from 10 to 25 acres. Leases are understood to have been secured for about 20 persons. Seventy acres of the Wakeham property were secured by the Ramsey interests, it is reported.

Sign With Ramsey Company

Following is a list of persons who have signed with the Ramsey company for from two to five years:

T. W. Johnson, 18 acres; Alfred Wells, 12 acres; Jacob Arnt, 6 acres; First National bank of Santa Ana, 37 acres; G. E. Bogart, 5 acres; Charles Ward, 5 acres; E. Emerson, 10 acres; Mrs. Nellie Reeve, 5 acres; J. W. Shiffer, 10 acres; J. A. Shiffer, 10 acres; Mrs. Lena Baker, 22 acres; C. H. Stearns, 10 acres; Mrs. E. Ford, 10 acres; Charles Ward, 10 acres; First National bank of Santa Ana, 20 acres; Paul Witter, 4 acres; Fred Williams, 1 acre; Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Hight, 205 acres; Charles R. Ward, 5 acres; Charles R. Ward, 10 acres; Robert Speed, 10 acres; H. L. Wakeham, 70 acres.

'EVIDENCE' IS SAMPLED BY JURORS

Two Investigate Proof For Themselves In Westminster County Raid Case

POSSIBLY unnerved by the appearance of a witness just released from quarantine for small pox, two jurors at a liquor trial in the superior court late yesterday, electrified courtroom spectators by applying alcoholic beverages to their courage.

Either that, or the jurors misunderstood the purpose of the prosecutor when he passed the evidence around for inspection. At any rate, long, luxurious gurgles wetted the tall bottle and the jug at followed it around the jury.

Meanwhile the prosecutor looked on with growing apprehension for "proof," and a subdued yell came from a group of school students who were visiting the court.

Today the jury was expected to render its decision as to whether the contents of the jug and bottle were all that the prosecutor claimed them to be, and whether Dr. Bickmore, of Westminster, really sold them to John Wagon and M. Christenson, two Anti-San league detectives.

In the first point, the jury, it was pointed out, had evidence besides that coming from the witness stand. On the second question, it had conflicting evidence about an equal amount on hand.

The two detectives claimed that Bickmore sold them the liquor, Bickmore and his wife denied that they had ever sold liquor to the detectives before.

When, one of the detectives, was "small pox witness." He was released from quarantine in Los Angeles at noon yesterday and secured in court at 2 p. m. to receive a wide berth from all press.

While testimony all presented yesterday, arguments by counsel commenced when court opened today.

When Does Pup Become Dog, Council Asks

When is a puppy a dog? Council members wrestled with this momentous question last night in an effort to determine what age a dog should be before its owner is liable for the dog tax. It has come to the attention of the council that it has been the custom of the dog-catcher to collect the tax when puppies are born. Referring to the city attorney as the "only authority on dogs," the council delegated to that official authority to amend the dog tax license and establish the age at which a dog should come under jurisdiction of the dog-catcher, and his owner liable for the tax. Control of the licensing of dogs probably will be placed in the hands of the health department.

FIST-FIGHTS AT NEWPORT MEET FEARED

Feeling Runs High and Trouble Will Ensnare If Lie Is Passed

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 20.—Reports of sensational developments expected at the mass meeting called for tonight, have stirred Newport Beach as never before, and the one topic of conversation on the streets today is what will happen when charges of alleged graft will be made by Lee Pfau.

The report was in circulation today that the Rev. Leon Myers, William Starbuck and other Orange county citizens, who sought to oust public officials in various parts of Orange county, will attend and participate in the session.

Free Free-for-all Fight

It was learned today that Major L. L. Garrigue, one of the three citizens who asked for use of the school auditorium, appealed to City Marshal Porter for ample police protection as, it was feared, it was said, that a free-for-all fight might develop.

Reports current on the streets, both at Newport and Balboa, are that a "rough house" can be expected. Some citizens are free in their statements that if anybody or anyone calls them a "thief" or "grafter," the person making the statement will either have to prove it then and there or be a party to a fist fight.

Others want the police to "frisk" everyone who enters the building for weapons to prevent possible bloodshed. This statement is made somewhat laughingly, although the police department is determined to maintain order.

Deny Klan Connection

Intimation that the Klan is behind the movement, was denied by members of the organization, and while Myers and Starbuck are affiliated with the county klavern, local klansmen say these men have not been asked to come here by them and that if they do come it must be by invitation of the sponsors of the meeting.

It is known that Pfau will reiterate his charges of graft and bootlegging. It is also asserted that he will use the mass meeting as a vehicle to secure signatures to his recall petitions, which have been in circulation for some weeks and which, it is said, are far from containing the requisite number of signatures.

At any rate, both sides are preparing to be at the schoolhouse to present and refute charges, while hundreds of citizens will pack the auditorium for the meeting, which is scheduled to start at 7 p. m.

"MA" FERGUSON BECOMES "FIRST LADY" OF TEXAS

OFFICERS WILL BE TRIED FOR WINE REMOVAL

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—Prosecution of eleven federal and state agents believed responsible for illegal removal of wine from bonded wineries was promised today as the government moved to confiscate quantities of wine held in California wineries.

Three libel actions already have been filed seeking destruction of thousands of gallons of wine alleged to have been illegally manufactured.

Prohibition forces, led by E. C. Yellowley, chief field officer, the United States district attorney and the internal revenue bureau here have announced that the investigation which has been in progress for months is now about to bear fruit.

It is alleged that four dry agents, four winery watchmen and three state traffic officers have winked at so-called thefts of wine from many wineries and have been persuaded to let it flow into San Francisco and other cities. Arrest of these men have been promised within the next few days.

Huge Crowd Is Witness to Ceremony In Hall of Representatives

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson is the new governor of Texas.

"Ma" took the oath of office before a packed throng in the Hall of Representatives at 12:30 p. m. today.

Chief Justice C. M. Cureton administered the oath to the woman governor of the largest state in the Union. Mrs. Ferguson repeated the sentences after the chief justice in a low tone.

The new chief executive of the state was dressed in a dark silk dress overruled with steel beads. She wore a black hat. A huge ostrich plume necklace surmounted a dark wrap and another large plume adorned the bodice of the wrap.

Mrs. Ferguson entered the chamber with Governor Pat M. Neff and took a seat on the rostrum as two hands blared "Texas, Our Texas," official state song.

The oath of office was administered first to Barry Miller, lieutenant governor.

During the preliminary ceremonies, Mrs. Ferguson talked with Governor Neff and members of her family who were seated about her.

"The hall was densely crowded. Since early morning every seat had been occupied and women were predominant in the great throng. Spectators were entertained by music from the bands and vocal selections by Mae Peterson, opera singer.

Proceeding the ceremony a battery of field artillery boomed out a thunderous salvo at intervals of a few minutes.

PROPOSES COUNTY UNION ON COLORADO

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 20.—A bill, enabling counties in the southern part of the state to form a corporation for the purpose of utilizing waters of the Colorado river in event congress passes the Boulder dam act, was introduced in the legislative assembly today.

Assembly Isaac Jones of San Bernardino, introduced the measure in the lower house, while Senator A. Burlingame Johnson introduced a similar bill in the senate.

Under the terms of the bill the counties from Los Angeles to the Colorado river would be permitted to form a political corporation for the purpose of transporting the waters of the river to the various cities in the counties.

The entire program depends on the passage of the act by congress, which will permit the construction of the Boulder dam. Assemblyman Jones explained.

According to Assemblyman Jones' explanation of the bill, San Diego county would not be included in the original corporation. Riverside, San Bernardino, Orange and Los Angeles counties would form the corporation.

FRAMEUP, DECLARES WEARER OF TOGA

New Jersey Politician Announces Is Ready to Return and Testify

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 20.—The name of U. S. Senator Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey was brought into the trial of 10 policemen and two civilians in connection with the Weehawken liquor scandal today.

Lionel Wilson, a federal prohibition enforcement agent, testified that William Griffin, alleged leader of bootleggers, claimed the senator was one of the "backers" of a liquor smuggling ring. Another agent heard the accusation, Wilson said.

The witness told of visiting Griffin in an office in the First National bank building. Edwards is president of the bank and has an office in the building.

"Directing Bootleg Ring"

Under direct examination by Col. George E. Vickers, special prosecutor, the witness expressed the belief that Senator Edwards was "directing head of the bootleg ring."

Wilson testified he had been in Edwards' office when money was paid to the senator—$3000 for 100 cases of scotch.

"No doubt U. S. Senator Edwards is a bootlegger in your opinion?" the witness was asked. "Certainly Edwards was the bootlegger in my transaction," Wilson replied firmly.

Under cross-examination, when defense counsel for the accused man attempted to show Wilson was one of a group trying to "frame" Senator Edwards and William Griffin, alleged "brains" of the bootlegging operations, the witness maintained he had not seen the senator previous to visiting his home to arrange to buy liquor.

Charles Hurlbut of Toledo, O., followed Wilson on the stand and told of his part in the alleged purchase of 100 cases of liquor from Senator Edwards.

"Griffin told us that Senator Edwards was his backer," Hurlbut testified.

"On November 19, 1923, I and Wilson called on Senator Edwards in his office at the First National bank.

"We talked for half an hour with him. Edwards said to me: 'Griffin is responsible. He can guarantee first class uncut liquor.' Edwards told us Griffin was a 'straight shooter.'"

"What was the outcome of your interview?" Hurlbut was asked. "I gave $3800 to Senator Edwards."

"What happened then?" "Senator Edwards counted the money, called a cashier and told him to change the bills to smaller denominations. He then sealed the envelope. He wrote my name on it and gave it back to the cashier. There was no record kept of the transaction.

"Afterwards I saw Griffin and told him I wanted the liquor and he seemed uneasy and said to me: 'I'm not sure you're in the liquor business; I know I am; it looks like a conspiracy.' He went out and came back in half an hour and said he couldn't deliver the liquor and Senator Edwards would return the money. He went to New York and reported to our superiors."

Says He Got Money Back

The witness said he returned the next day, received his money

U. ISLANDER OPIMUM, CLAIM

GENE, Jan. 20.—Congressman Stephen Dyer, head of the American nation to the League of Nations, today charged that the United States is a "drug addict" because of its opium consumption.

Dyer, who is an American people, plummy unsupported by statistics, he referred to Lord Cecil's lament yesterday that opium consumption in the United States is greater per capita than in India.

The mean, dignified figure of Dyer, his hawk-like face wearing a proud expression, rose and asked permission to withdraw his statement, but Congressman Porter, biting mood, interrupted, saying he would be highly regretful if his assembly should be repeated his assembly.

The Asian spokesman went on to say "Lord Cecil's view was based on the American people" was based on old statistics which indicated that the United States was 36 grains per capita. Correct statistics, he said, show only eight grains—"same as England," Porter added.

He declared that the American delegation, two months and three days hence, still is faced with the duty of demanding a hearing on most vital points of its program, that Japan for its support congratulated Japan upon its success in suppressing the drug evil, it was based upon one of the important principles—namely, suppression without consideration of diminished revenue.

For the time the United States demands a hearing before this conference, Porter said. "The United States asks a solemn pledge all nations will wipe out drug using each nation free to use its methods."

TWO OPPOSING PROPOSED GAS TAX INCREASE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 20.—The governor's "committee of nine" which was appointed to investigate ways and means of obtaining revenue to complete the state highway system and the hearing of the senate finance and assembly ways and means committees on the biennial budget will be closely observed by the legislators today. The committee was unable to complete a recommendation at the meeting yesterday and little interest bobbed up at the budget hearing.

The committee of nine is attempting to come to some decision over the proposed one-cent increase in the present gasoline tax as a means for state highway work.

Chairman Arthur Breed is known to be strongly in favor of the measure and has already announced he will introduce it in the senate whether the committee agrees or not.

While the committee meeting yesterday was held behind closed doors, it is understood the body stands 7 to 2 in favor of the plan, with two of the members from the south opposed.

Senator Will Sharkey of Martinez, in a statement today claimed plans are already under way to submit the state gas tax increase to a referendum in case the measure is passed by the legislature.

Sharkey explains that if this is done, not only the increased tax, but the present two-cent tax as well would be held up, thereby breaking down the entire highway program.

Mail Robber Is Put Under Guard

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 20.—Five heavy steel doors and a corridor of deputy sheriffs at the Marion county jail today stood between Gerald Chapman, mail robber and safe blower and attempt to regain his freedom.

Fear that Chapman would try to break jail during the night caused Sheriff Hawkins to place the heaviest guard over Chapman that has ever watched an individual prisoner in the jail here.

"30" BULLETINS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The senate today, by a vote of 40 to 30, accepted the majority report of the senate public lands committee, written by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, on the Teapot Dome investigation. Previously it rejected the minority report, written by Senator Spencer, Republican, of Missouri, by a vote of 28 to 42.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—Another man and a girl were under arrest today in connection with the mad career of Dorothy Ellingson, which ended in her confession that she killed her mother.

Emil Kreuter, trill drummer, and Catherine Mossman, friend of Dorothy and ward of the juvenile court, were held after they told police a remarkable story of a party they attended with Dorothy 12 hours after she is alleged to have killed her mother.

Kreuter is charged with contributing to the delinquency of

HOLD FATHER FOR CHILDREN'S DEATHS

ELK RIVER, Minn., Jan. 20.—Charges of second degree manslaughter were filed here today against Frank Bedoch in connection with the incineration of his five children in a fire in the Bedoch trill paper shack near here Sunday.

Coroner G. E. Page declared the upper part of the skull of each child was missing.

County Attorney Robert E. Hastie issued a warrant charging Bedoch with manslaughter in the second degree, a charge which is not bailable. The coroner's information was that Bedoch was negligent in allowing the fire to get started and culpably negligent in not attempting to rescue the children.

RICH MAN'S BOOZE TO BE DESTROYED

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—Destruction of $3500 worth of liquor seized in a raid on the home of J. J. Mitchell, Santa Barbara millionaire, was planned by prohibition officers here today, following an order to that effect by Federal Judge Bledsoe. Elmer Aul, manager of the estate, was fined $500 for violating the dry law in receiving the liquor. Mitchell is the son-in-law of J. Ogden Armour.

HATS off to Colonel James A. Logan, officially American "unofficial" observer with the reparations commission, and unofficially unofficial "fixer" of almost everything else. In fact, Colonel Logan is about the most unofficial official, or officially unofficial person at large. It is a matter of routine for him to open every meeting with a speech explaining how unofficial he is. Then his strictly personal opinions (transmitted, also unofficially, by cable from Washington) straighten out the affairs of nations. Colonel Logan is doubtless a profoundly high-brow philosopher on things international, but he does not want anyone to know it. On the surface, he is simply a fine fellow, who knows who's who and what's what, and has a knack of finding illogical ways out of logically impossible dilemmas. May his strictly unofficial career, as American representative on all the things we are not represented on, continue long and unofficially.

AMERICA'S first women governors have just been inaugurated—both quite old-fashionedly, as successors to their husbands. There is no woman senator yet, but there are women in the house of representatives, and will be more, and there are women in many state legislatures.

Fortunately too, these women practically all live up to the unfair standard we have set for them. It is not enough that women in office shall be as good as the men. We demand that they be much better. We are reconciled to seeing all sorts of men in high place, but we will tolerate only one sort of woman. To the credit of feminism, we are getting just that sort.

"I HAVE a real affection for the assembly chamber," said Governor A. Smith, of New York, in his latest inaugural address. "It has been my high school; my college."

Governor Smith is the graduate of an even better university than the assembly chamber. He is an alumnus of the sidewalks of New York, and of the contacts of men. He claims never to read books. "What are your favorite books?" a "Sunday Sup" sob sister is alleged to have asked him. "Books? I never read but one—the life of John L. Sullivan."

The story is probably a canard; but it illustrates that there are other educational institutions of books. Lock up one man in libraries and hurl another into the swirl of life. Both will learn, if it is in them; neither, if they are not of the learning sort.

THE German railroads, now that they have got out of politics and are under the Dawes plan, are reported to be making money. The revival of prosperity is doubtless one cause, but the principal reason is that the railroads are now, for the first time, run as businesses, or business principles. This was, in fact, one of the greatest boons to Germany conferred by the Dawes plan. Under the old political management, the roads were run to promote favored industries, and to help favored interests or districts. That sort of favoritism is not good, even for the favored.

There is much truth in Henry Ford's doctrine that the first service a business can render to its customers, its workers and the public, is just to be a successful business.

NOW that we have got our own jingoism suppressed, and have ceased to take the Japanese jingoism any more seriously than they are taken by sensible people in their own country—let us face the real problem.

That problem is bluntly, the birth rate. Modern sanitation has reduced the Japanese death rate to almost an accidental standard, while the birth rate remains nearly Oriental. The result is a rapidly increasing population, which seeks outlet. The tremendous birth rate of China is still balanced by an equally huge death rate, but the Rockefeller Foundation, medical missionaries and the spread of enlightenment will have changed that in another generation.

Then the teeming millions of China will seem to be facing the choice of starvation or emigration. The trouble is that emigration will not solve the problem. It may for the individual who emigrates, but not for the nation. So long as the present birth rate continues, China would still have just as many people, no matter how many emigrated. An equal number at home who otherwise would have died, would live. Either these races will overspread the earth, to the elimination of the less fecund, or they must learn to live at home. And they can't live there only by reducing the birth rate. That means, unfortunately, reversing all the traditional ideas.

For Japan, fortunately, there is the other alternative. Japan can expand vertically, instead of horizontally, by industrializing itself, as England and Belgium have done. But for China there is only one choice—fewer births or more deaths.

Colds Should Always Be Treated With Vapors

Vicks is
"A Vapor
Lamp in Salve Form."
No Dosing,
You Just Rub
It Over
Throat and Chest

It has long been recognized that the most effective way to treat colds is to apply the medication directly to the affected parts. This of course can only be done by means of vapors that can be inhaled.

Vicks provides the ideal method of securing medicated vapors. When rubbed over throat and chest the ingredients—Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme, Turpentine—are vaporized by the body heat and inhaled directly into the air passages and lungs.

At the same time, Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster, affording a double action which brings truly remarkable results.

ARE ADMITTED TO CITIZENSHIP IN U. S. A.

Yesterday, aliens—foreigners—today, citizens of the United States of America!

This was the situation of ten very proud Orange county residents, who late yesterday passed naturalization examinations in the superior court and were admitted to citizenship by Judge R. Y. Williams.

The ten were the survivors of a field of 20 starters, half of whom for one or another reason failed to meet the government's requirements of its adopted citizens.

After the examination had been completed, the class took the oath of allegiance late yesterday, at exercises conducted by a delegation from the D. A. R. of Santa Ana. American flags were presented to each one and they were warmly welcomed as "new citizens."

Before dismissing the class, Judge Williams delivered a few remarks from the bench, telling the new Americans that their citizenship carried duties as well as privileges. Reviewing the various civil duties, the judge emphasized that the right of suffrage, besides being a prized privilege, was also an imperative duty. "No citizen is entitled to this privilege who will not observe his duty of exercising it," said the court.

Before scattering, the class posed on the courthouse steps for a newspaper photograph.

A COUGH REMEDY WITHOUT OPIATES

Many cough preparations contain some one or more harmful drugs which are added to take the place of opiates. None of these narcotic substitutes have ever been used in FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND. The name of every ingredient is plainly printed on every carton. You know what you are taking when you take Foley's. It clings to the throat. Good for old and young. You have a cough, why not try it. Refuse substitutes. Sold everywhere.—Adv.

Generator and Battery Rule Is Not Verified

No advice have been received at the Santa Ana office of the Automobile Club of Southern California of a reported ruling of the superintendent of the motor vehicle department requiring all motor cars to be equipped with a battery and a generator in order to obtain a license.

The alleged ruling, it was learned, has caused a good deal of comment among owners of light cars, who are at a loss to determine what is meant by "battery and generator," as defined by the state motor vehicle department.

It was also added that protests against the ruling of the motor vehicle department have been filed with the legislature and the matter is now under investigation by the senate motor vehicle committee.

Your Question ANSWERED!

Question—Is Chiropractic a sort of specialty, a limited branch of the healing art?

Answer—Every part of the body, regardless of location or size, has been cured of the different diseases or ailments by Chiropractic adjustments.

"The proper growth, nutrition and health of a part depends upon its receiving a continual supply of nerve impulses, which, originating in the brain or cord, pass out through the several bony segments of the spine on the way to the specific areas of the body. So long as the part is receiving the normal amount of impulses you have health but when the nerve is impinged (or pinched) these impulses can not reach the organ at the proper rate and force so disease follows. The Chiropractor releases this pressure on the nerves, allowing the proper impulses to reach the organ once more, so you have health."

The WELL-DRESSED MAN
By BEAUNASH
Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

Not so many years ago, it was considered the height of style to wear a black scarf and a white shirt. Today, the man who assumes such a combination argues that, like a glass of water, he has neither good taste nor bad taste, but no taste at all. Your mode of dress should express the character and personality of the wearer. This can only be done by choosing patterns and colors which reflect a positive theme, instead of an indefinite trend. Contrary to common belief, taste is not a rare or exclusive possession. It is acquired and perfected with slight practice. All you have to do is keep have the rest conform to it.

For example, if you have on a blue suit or overcoat, brown or gray are excellent complementary or supplementary colors to act as a foil to blue. Add a gray soft hat with a black band, gray gloves and black shoes, and you get a combination of colors that is irreproachable beyond criticism. That is what is meant by exercising one's color sense. No matter of what fine materials your clothes may be cut or how meticulously they may fit, if they do not conform or contrast harmoniously in color the whole effect is nullified.

The bright-hued wool hose, reproduced here, are some of the rich new diamond designs now so smart to pair off with low shoes. These come in the celebrated "Fair Isle" patterns from the Scottish Shetlands, as well as in more modern effects. Gray, brown, green, Lovat mixtures, powder blue, Copenhagen blue, camel-and-white, gray-and-white, black-and-white—choose as you prefer.

2 WOMEN ARE INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Two women, Mrs. N. L. Archer and her daughter, Mrs. N. L. Edson, of Tustin, were hurt, the former seriously, when they were struck by a fast-moving automobile, while walking along East First street, last night, at 7:45 o'clock, and knocked to the pavement.

Thomas L. Wright of Redhill and Mitchell streets, Tustin, was driving toward Santa Ana, when he struck the two women, according to a report he made at the jail last night. He reported he was making a speed of approximately 25 miles an hour and did not see the women, but reported they were walking on the pavement.

City police officers who answered the accident call, said the women claimed they had a flashlight and were flashing it as they walked along the pavement. Wright told officers that he had just pulled to the side of the road in order to pass another car coming from the opposite direction when he struck the women.

Mrs. Archer suffered a broken ankle and a severely wrenched back. Her daughter suffered from cuts and bruises. Both were taken to their homes at Tustin in an ambulance.

EVANS WILL HEAD COLLECTION DEPT.

Secretary P. S. Lucas of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, announced today that H. Y. Evans, a local business man, for a number of years engaged in adjustment of bankruptcy cases, collection work and similar duties, has been appointed head of the collection department of the association.

The appointment of a trained man to take charge of the collection department is in line with the recommendations of Secretary Lucas as outlined in his annual report presented to the association at the annual meeting held January 6.

That phase of the secretary's recommendations which related to the collection department reads as follows: "The time has arrived when the M. and M. should make some vital adjustments. From the report just given, and from conditions revealed by various of our members and from investigations of other associations, it is evident that we should immediately strengthen our collection department. The prestige of the M. and M. in the community is so well established, that it forms a solid foundation upon which to erect a stronger and more efficient department, which if done will materially strengthen the association as a whole."

TICKET SALES STARTED FOR JR.-SR. DANCE

Reports of the first day's sale of tickets for the Junior-Senior promenade at the Santa Ana Polytechnic high school, augur well for the success of the affair in the opinion of Victor Walker, senior class president who is making arrangements.

Every effort is being made by Walker to appeal to the students for their support in "putting across" the dance which is to be the first of recent years. Yesterday opened the ticket sale with a total of 75 distributed.

There are nine students about school who have the tickets for sale. These students are Miss Madeleine Moase, Miss Charlotte Harnois, Louis Napier, Norris Davis, George Decker, Kingsley Hancock, Gorham Smith, Victor Walker and Keith Belsel.

Walker asserts that a total of 200 tickets must be purchased in order to cover the cost of the dancing party which is being sponsored by the high school Parent-Teachers' association. The event is to be held in the Ebell clubhouse next Friday at 8 o'clock with members of the P. T. A. acting as chaperons.

Dance or not, Walker urges all the upper classmen to buy tickets. "Everything taken in above the expenses is to be turned over to the fund for a senior gift to the school," he said.

"Sooner or later the cost of this annual gift from the graduating class must be met and if it is possible to raise the entire amount by means of the dance the necessity of making assessments later in the year would be eliminated." Irrespective of the expediency, Walker asserted that it was "a matter of class loyalty to support the undertaking."

BROTHERHOOD TO HEAR HITCHCOCK

"The Snowshoe Preacher" is the title of an address which the Rev. Lyman P. Hitchcock of Olive, formerly pastor of the First Congregational church of Pasadena, will deliver at the dinner meeting tonight of the Men's Brotherhood of the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, South, corner Church street and Broadway. Bits of life in a section of the country where snow lies on the ground most of the year, how members of churches trudge miles to attend services, how snowstorms and north winds fail to deter their religious spirits, will be told by Dr. Hitchcock.

The dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock in the basement of the church and all men of the church and their friends are invited. C. N. Mozley, deputy district attorney and president of the brotherhood, stated today.

In addition to Dr. Hitchcock's address, there will be vocal duets by Mr. and Mrs. James Nuckolls; selections by a steel guitar quartet composed of Miss Gladys Newman, Miss Edna Holland, Clyde Holland and Forest Newman; vocal numbers by Mrs. C. Seales and readings by Miss Eunice Jones.

Blame Klan for Strife in Anaheim

U. S. A. CLUB ASSERTS CITY MUST IMMEDIATELY BE FREED OF HOODED ORDER DOMINATION

"THE KU KLUX KLAN with its resultant complications, ramifications and untill that fly is removed Anaheim cannot hope to go forward with its sister cities of the Southland, seizing the golden opportunity afforded for growth."

That is the attitude taken by the leaders of the U. S. A. club in Anaheim's internal situation of which the main feature is the effort being made by the U. S. A. club to recall E. H. Metcalf, A. A. Slaback, E. E. Knipe and Dean Hasson from seats at the city council table. The U. S. A. club claims four were elected by the Ku Klux Klan and are now directly under influence of the order. Leaders of the anti-clerical group, in reciting their side of the situation, hark one back to the arrival in Anaheim of the Rev. Leon Myers, now pastor of the First Christian church. It was the Rev. Mr. Myers who first began the agitation for a Ku Klux Klan in the Mother Colony city, they say, and directly at his feet is laid the present unfortunate situation. They say their records show the Rev. Mr. Myers first began his propaganda work in behalf of the Klan in August, 1923.

Refer to Hate and Venom
"Thus for nearly two years Anaheim has been embroiled in a series of municipal differences with the best increasing with each succeeding effort of the Ku Klux Klan to inject intolerance, bigotry, religious discrimination, hate and venom into the minds of the citizens," a member of this club declared.

When the publishers of the three Anaheim papers saw the Klan growing in strength a conference was held in the office of the Anaheim Plain Dealer at which time Rollo W. Ernest, publisher of that paper, asked his fellow editors Lotus Lowden of the Bulletin and Blaine Gibson of the Herald, to unite with him in combatting the order and in driving it from the city before it became more dangerous. This is the charge of one of the leading members of the U. S. A. club, who says he was present at the time. Now, this man declares the paper of Editor Ernest is the Klan organ in Anaheim, doing all it can to fan the flames for the benefit of the secret order.

The first act of the Klan in Anaheim was the sending of a warning to James Clark, proprietor of the Valencia hotel, in which he was told he had better be moving, a spokesman for the anti-clerical group said. The second warning to Herman J. Effer, proprietor of an Anaheim novelty store, in which he was told to refrain from his criticism of the Klan or take the consequences. Effer is now operating a store in Santa Ana and a U. S. A. man said, is willing to back up the statements concerning the warning sent to him.

Former Nuns Imported
To assist in bringing the official soup to a boiling point, the Klan, through the Rev. Mr. Myers, next imported a number of ex-monks and ex-nuns, the club spokesman charged, and some of the most vindictive of all the charges hurled by the Ku Klux Klan came from the mouths of these speakers. Thus, feeling was intensified.

Frequent mention was made by them in a laudatory vein of the Klan and several klansmen acted as ushers while garbed in the full regalia of their order, so it is said by the U. S. A. club supporters.

At the next city election, William Stark and Howard Gates were defeated by the Klan for another term and the present councilmen whose recall is sought, were elected. Godfrey Stock, holdover member, is now the center of the assault made by the city council campaign committee which is supporting the present trustees. When a campaign started to oust the four new members retaliation efforts were begun to oust Stock.

When the First Christian church was dedicated, its completion having been brought about largely through funds provided by the Klan, klansmen in their white

INSURANCE AS THRIFT MOVE IS STRESSED

Today, in the calendar of Thrift Week, is Life Insurance Day and Make a Will Day, a double-header sort of day, made so because there are so many lines of thrift to be considered that one week does not afford a day apiece for them all.

According to a good authority, the total life insurance written in Orange county in 1924 was more than five million dollars. That indicates that a good many people are already observing that principle of thrift. However, the men who write life insurance maintain that they have only made a start in their service to the public and 1925 is to be a bigger year than ever.

Why carry life insurance? It is a safe and sane investment. Life insurance extends protection to your loved ones beyond the time of your life.

It increases the happiness of the home life by giving assurance of protection.

It compels you to take a physical examination and thus know the state of your health.

It helps to save money in a systematic way.

It creates an estate for the insured on the day when he is acceptable for a policy.

Life insurance is not in any sense a speculation. It is a safe, conservative investment, a far-sighted provision for the future.

The prospective purchaser of insurance needs to exercise ordinary intelligence in this, as in any other use of money. Choose a well established company, with a good record for its business management. Select an agent in whom you can place confidence. Get his advice as to the kind of insurance you need, and file your application.

For the man who does not carry insurance, there is just one rule that is safe, and that is "Do it now."

A careful poll of the citizens of Santa Ana would probably reveal a condition here as in other cities, of a sad lack of attention to the matter of making a will. Hundreds of intelligent business men and women have neglected this simple and essential provision for the future.

With the law concerning community property such as they are in California, no family has properly cared for its interests until both the husband and wife have made wills providing for the contingencies of death.

Making a will is a moral obligation. It reduces expense to your heirs. It simplifies all the legal processes in settling an estate. It insures the division of the estate in the manner you desire.

Leaving a will-less estate means annoyance and expense to those left behind. It may mean actual hardship for them while waiting for the legal settlement of the business.

Making you will is a display of good common sense.

The making of a will is not particularly expensive or difficult. Any lawyer or trust company will help with good advice at very reasonable cost.

For "success and happiness" making a will is one of the important steps.

ELECTIONS ARE STARTING FOR STUDENT POSTS

With the air charged with pre-election tension, the fight between the two political parties at the Santa Ana Polytechnic high school to place in power their tickets of students for school offices started in earnest today.

Petitions were being issued from the office of Principal D. K. Hammond to the students who are supporting their candidates for office.

By filing the required number of signatures on a petition passed by the student Board of Control the candidate is eligible for student body office.

The nomination assembly when the opposing parties place their tickets before the student body will probably be held next week. According to Edward Hummel, who is in charge of the assembly scheduled, the nominations may possibly be held at a special convention on Thursday of next week. Otherwise the assembly is slated for the first part of the Friday meeting when the Pomona Men's Glee club is to appear here.

During the following week, the first in February, the battle of the ballots will take place. Seven offices are to be vacated at the expiration of the term and the contest centers around the issue whether the Liberal or Independent parties will draw the student body following, electing either to power.

From the petitions out it is indicated that the opposing candidates for president will be Victor Walker for the Liberals and Herbert Meisinger for the Independents. Meisinger, Poly football and basketball star, is already acting as president, having succeeded from the office of vice president when James Gilstrap, student body president, was transferred to Long Beach high school.

Victor Walker was the standard bearer for the Liberals in a recent election over the office of commissioner of forensics. Though his own party supporters thought him defeated, he overwhelmed his opponent by a surprise vote.

At a caucus meeting of the Liberal leaders held yesterday a complete ticket was named with Walker at the head. The other offices include: For the vice presidency, Fred Johnson and Charles Grey; for secretary, Miss Annie Warren Hamilton. Louis Napier and Blanchard Beauty; for Girls Self-government, Margaret Carothers, Virginia Thatcher, and Veda Mitchell.

The Independents were to have placed their candidates in the field by this afternoon according to Don Hillman who with Gardner Waters are the leaders of the Independent political group. The Liberal leaders are Morris Davis, Louis Napier and Kingsley Hancock.

Betrothals Weddings Receptions

Ebell Club Members
Score Success With Third Tea Party

That Santa Ana femininity is enthusiastic in establishing Monday as Ebell day, always to be marked by a social feature at the club home, seems to be an established fact with the steady increase in attendance at the Monday afternoon "open-house" affairs.

For yesterday when Mrs. Archie Herr and her chosen hostess group received their guests at the entry to the lounge, there were over a score more to be greeted than at any previous party. The same air of hospitality and friendliness that has marked earlier informal teas, was apparent in every detail and the large group chatted and "tea-ed" and gave interested attention to any programmed entertainment that came up, whether it was play cards or to listen to the different artists assembled to entertain them.

Fifteen tables were required to accommodate those wishing to try their skill at bridge, while for those who preferred a lighter and more informal amusement, various guessing contests were introduced in the lounge. Table prizes were given at the close of the play and fifteen high-scoring card players carried off a pretty little china olive dish apiece.

At the program hour all assembled in the auditorium where delightful entertainment was offered. Mrs. H. B. Van Dusen opened the program with a charming song group, singing first, Sanderson's "Break of Day," followed by the romantic "Oh, Why So Soon?" the Rose Complants, by Franz. As an encore number she sang, "The Lamp-Lit Hour."

Miss Mary Lake, a talented young violin pupil of Elwood Bear, reflected great credit upon her musical instructors and displayed a marked talent in her rendering of "Meditation" by Lamar and the beautiful strains of "Orientele" by Qui. She was followed by a favorite artist in the person of Harriet Owens Enderle whose skill at impersonation was exemplified in a beautiful allegorical reading, "The Lost Joy," by Olive Schreiner and a delightful Paul Lawrence Dunbar dialect number, "My Sweet Brown Gal," both given with charm and expression.

A newcomer to the city's club and music circles was introduced in the person of Mrs. Alfred G. Burton whose lovely and well-trained soprano voice delighted the audience. Mrs. Burton sang with much sweetness and expression, a group composed of "My Heart is Singing" by Sans Souci; "I Pass by Your Window," by Brahe; "I Know a Lovely Garden," by d'Hardelot and for an encore number, Oley Speaks' tenderly, beautiful "Sylvia."

Miss Lenora Tompkins of the music section, displayed her skill as an accompanist by the piano work for each number and won new laurels to add to those gained as piano soloist. Her thorough sympathy and understanding of the values of each number and her adaptability to the requirements of individual vocalists was perfectly exemplified.

After the program, guests again assembled in the card rooms and lounge and in little groups, dropped into the section rooms to have tea with the Fifth House-hold Economics section and its leader, Mrs. Edward B. Van Meter.

Yesterday's hostess group was composed of Mrs. Herr, chairman, and her aides, Mrs. Robert G. Tut-hill, Mrs. Addie Collins and Mrs. John L. Clark.

Next Monday will bring the regular monthly meeting of the Ebell society and the program for which will be announced later. The usual business procedure will open the afternoon with the entertainment features to follow. Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, Ebell president, will direct business and routine activities.

Beginning with Monday, February 2, the informal afternoon program will be resumed, the hostesses for each week to be announced later.

Card Party Plans

Active Glands Gave Napoleon Fighting Force

According to Berman, a noted scientist, who has analyzed the action of the glands, Napoleon, one of the greatest fighters of all history, owed his courage and fighting force to large and extremely active adrenal glands.

Not only have the glands an important influence on the mind and character of the individual, but they also largely control health, energy and vitality, and it is by maintaining the normal functioning of the glands that we may combat sickness and ill health, according to eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe.

BUSINESS WOMEN ENTERTAIN AT UNIQUE DINNER PARTY

Offering an affair which is believed to be unique in the city's business and social life, the members of one of the popular luncheon clubs, the Business and Professional Women, last night sponsored a dinner whose guests were made up of employers and their wives, dining amid the charming surroundings of the Ebell club banquet room.

When the plan was first broached it was anticipated that the evening would prove a pleasant one, but the complete success and enjoyment exceeded the fondest dreams of the president, Miss Mabel McFadden, and her efficient board of directors who formed the receiving line to greet arriving guests.

Lingering in the wide corridors of the clubhouse, members and guests seized the opportunity for friendly introductions and chat ere the dining-room doors were thrown open. In the spacious banquet room, long tables were arranged, presenting a gay and colorful appearance with bowls of spring flowers, garlands of smilax, pink nut-cups and twinkling pink candles, to say nothing of the amazing variety of caps which added a distinctive touch to the scene.

Dinner plans had been entrusted to Mrs. Edward M. Nealley and her Modern Poetry section of Ebell society, and the result was all that heart could desire. Assisted by a group of pretty girls, their daughters and young friends, the section members presented a roundelay in the fruit cocktail, an epic poem in the meat course, a triolet with the salad and a symphonic poem with the sweets and after-dinner coffee.

The dinner hour was made lively by song and story. Miss McFadden striking a note of gaiety and informality with her friendly little welcome to the guests and introduction of Miss Jane Humphreys of Los Angeles who played such a leading role in the founding of the club.

Miss Humphreys spoke briefly but in a most interesting manner upon the place woman occupies today in the business world, comparing it with that of twenty-five years ago, when, she declared, only three fields were open to femininity. The splendid relations between business men and business women were dwelt upon and the high standards of the man's business world lauded as being worthy of following by women entering that sphere.

Miss Humphreys paused to compliment the local organization, one of 56 in the state and three in Orange county, and according to her frank expression and flattering opinion, one of the best in the state.

Miss Holly Lash, a prominent member of the organization, followed the talk of the honor guest with a beautifully rendered love song, "All For You" with Earl Fraser playing her accompaniment. She was followed in turn by the final entertainment feature of the evening, one arranged through the courtesy of Ernest Crozier Phillips, dramatic coach at high school and junior college.

This was William C. De Mille's satirical little one-act play, "Food," whose scene is supposed to be fifty years in advance of the present day, with a corresponding increase in food prices until honor, love and homelife all depended upon one frail-shelled egg. The play depends upon careful and consistently serious acting for much of its entertaining and amusing effects. And in the cast selected from young people of the high school, Miss Madeline Moase, as "Irene," the young wife, Emil Foust as "Basil," her husband and Reuel Young as "Hafid," the government food messenger. Mr. Phillips selected a group eminently fitted to put the play across. This was proven by the constant ripples of mirth from the darkened auditorium where the guests watched the action on the brightly lighted little stage.

Laughter was always quickly hushered however lest some telling point be missed and the storm of applause which followed the final scene, was ample evidence of the pleasure the three talented young people gave.

The remainder of the evening was given over to getting acquainted as employer and employee met on a friendly basis, thus establishing a pleasant relation which is to reflect advantageously to the business world of the city.

It was hoped to get a full list of the guests present, but in the confusion resulting from the dinner program with its constant change of partners between the courses and the many other lively impromptu features, the complete list was not obtained.

In all there were about 200 members and guests present, among them being Mr. and Mrs. George E. Peters, Justine Whitney, Helen N. Gallagher, Marie A. Fowler, Lula B. Finley, S. H. Finley, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Dutton, Margaret King, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Stephenson, Eleanor Young Elliott, Charles L. Barkdull, Mrs. N. E. Barkdull, Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Southern Veterans Are Honored Guests at Birthday Dinner

Anticipated from year to year by members of the fast thinning ranks of those veterans of the Civil War who wore the gray, is the recurring birthday of Robert E. Lee, idol of the south, for that day brings to every corner of the United States where a little group of Southerners may live, a day of celebrating and feasting.

Yesterday the celebration in Santa Ana was marked by all the charm of previous years, and the veterans as they assembled at the First Christian church where dinner was served, were greeted with love and cheer by their hostesses, the Daughters of the Confederacy. A dinner typical of the old south was served by the church Aid society and in addition to the honor-ed guests, many Sons of Veterans took advantage of the opportunity to chat with each other and hear tales of long-ago days told over the delicious dinner.

The Rev. W. L. H. Benton, rector of the Church of the Messiah, expressed gratitude to the Daughters of the Confederacy for the dinner and the guests to be accorded special honor as remnants of that once-gallant band were Col. Kimberlin, Col. W. F. Heathman, and Messrs. Drat, Price, Heaton and Bridgeford.

While the guests remained at the table, Horace Head, principal speaker of the day, gave a most interesting talk on two famous leaders of the south, the two Generals Johnston. He also told many entertaining anecdotes of his father, the late Dr. H. W. Head, who had served under each general.

Following his talk, the entire crowd adjourned to the community house where a completely informal program was staged. Speakers were the Rev. Mr. Stanley, a visitor from Mississippi, who talked on conditions in the south; the Rev. F. T. Porter, speaking on "Ideals of America," and Col. Kimberlin who asked Sons of Veterans and Daughters of the Confederacy to attend the memorial services to be held at Spurgeon Memorial church, February 15.

Mrs. F. T. Porter gave one of her entertaining dandy dialect readings and Mrs. T. H. Bond gave Paul Lawrence Dunbar numbers in her own inimitable way, her girlish life in Dixie making her especially familiar with the quaintly charming dialect. Mrs. Victor Montgomery spoke on the award of service crosses to the World War veterans among sons of the south-land. Mrs. Rebecca Pope of Orange, new president of the Daughters, gave an amusing characterization of an old man consulting his physician, and Mr. Beard, a veteran from Orange, sang a favorite song of his boyhood days, "Darling Nelly Gray."

Coso Volcanic Iron Water

From the Boiling Craters at Coso Hot Springs, California

The World's Greatest Remedy

For Acid Stomach, Indigestion, Constipation, Rheumatism and Low Vitality

Supplies the Iron so Necessary for Rich, Red Blood

For ages, the Indians have journeyed hundreds of miles across mountain and desert to the Great Volcanic Laboratory at Coso, because they realized the importance of keeping the Liver, Kidneys and Pores of the Skin functioning properly.

Coso Water aids digestion and relieves acid stomach, and those who have only obtained temporary relief from soda and milk of magnesia will find this acid water an actual remedy, as it supplies the proper acid for digestion, destroys the invading bacteria, thus preventing the unnatural fermentation which creates acid gas. The water acts directly on the liver and kidneys, assisting nature in throwing off poison or waste which has been reabsorbed through lack of elimination.

We will gladly refer you to prominent people here in Santa Ana who have been thoroughly relieved of Acid Stomach, Indigestion, even Gastric Ulcer and hemorrhages from the stomach. Hundreds suffering from Rheumatism and Low Vitality who were skeptical one year ago, are well today and cannot say too much for Coso's Home Treatment. If you will drink a full tumbler of Coso Water before meals and upon retiring, you can eat what you like and digest it. Your Liver and Kidneys will function properly for the first time in years.

—Note Mrs. Headen's Case

Macon, Georgia. — "During the Change of Life I suffered with my whole right side and could not lie on my left side. I was in bed about two months and could not get up only as my son would lift me. After doctoring with out relief a man who was rooming with us told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it for two weeks and I could get out of my bed by myself. I am now 53 years old and in better health and stronger than ever in my life. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to many suffering women, young and old, and you may use my name anywhere as long as you please. I will be glad to answer any letters sent to me." — Mrs. F. B. HEADEN, 5 Holt Avenue, Macon, Georgia.

In a recent country-wide canvass of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 200,000 replies were received and 98 out of every 100 reported they had been benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

WARNS EMPLOYERS TO FILE RETURNS

Southern California employers were warned yesterday by Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell that they must file information returns with the commissioner of internal revenue at Washington, before March 15. These returns must be filed by every individual, firm, corporation, partnership, receiver, trustee, executor, administrator and employer who, during the year 1924, paid out salaries, commissions, rent, royalties or other fixed and determined gains in amounts of $1000 or more to any one individual. These information returns are entirely distinct from income tax returns. No extension of time can be granted by Collector Goodcell for the filing of information returns.

Collector Goodcell urged employers to co-operate with his office in reporting those employees and other persons who received from them during 1924 amounts of $1000 or more. "It will be appreciated if each employer will present to his employees the necessity of filing income tax returns. A return is required from a single person receiving $1000 or more per year, and from individuals married during the whole year receiving $2500 or more. It is necessary that the return be filed regardless of the amount received."

5 VAUDEVILLE ACTS ON YOST BILL TONIGHT

Five acts will feature the vaudeville program at the Yost theater tonight and tomorrow. A resume of the acts follows:

"Laughing of the Day," as presented by LaPan and Bastedo, a pot-pourri of comedy conversation and vocal numbers, featured by eccentricities of costume, and unique presentation.

The Deliberto Bros. and company, three husky athletes and two very attractive young women, present under the billing "Clean Comedy," a series of thrilling acrobatic feats. The work of this versatile quintette is featured by the easy nonchalance with which they execute the most difficult and non-support. Following their separation in December, 1923, an agreement was said to have been made, by which the children were left in the care of a Mrs. Miller at Orange, McPherson contributing a weekly sum for their support. In November, 1924, he called at the house and said he wanted to take the children for a short automobile ride, his wife said. He failed to bring them back.

Held on Grave Count. Jerry Salatic, 23, a clerk living at Anaheim, was held in the county jail today in connection with a statutory charge, involving a 15-year-old Santa Ana girl. Salatic was arrested last night at Anaheim.

Preparing Briefs. Briefs were being prepared today by attorneys in the case of Oliver G. Baker against W. F. Petzke, involving title to property at Stanton. Following a hearing of the case late yesterday, Superior Judge F. C. Drumm ordered briefs to be submitted.

File Divorce Plea. Mrs. Anna L. Anderson, represented by Gardner and Clark, local attorneys, today had a suit on file in the superior court for divorce from W. C. Anderson. She charged non-support. The Andersons were married in Houston, Texas, in 1920, and have a daughter, aged 2. They separated in 1923.

Sues Alameda Sugar Co. W. V. Whisler was plaintiff today in a suit filed in the superior court against the Alameda Sugar company, involving a demand for $600. Whisler alleged that he paid this amount on an agreed purchase price of $1000 for property in Sutter county. The sugar company then failed to comply with their agreement to convey title to the property, it was alleged. Attorneys Head, Rutan and Scovel represent the plaintiff.

Held on Robbery Count. Donald A. Cameron and Elroy Morris, youths said to have been involved in various robberies throughout the county, were today held for trial in the superior court on a robbery charge, their preliminary hearing being conducted before Justice Charles Kenkel, at Anaheim. Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin represents the state. Cameron and Morris were accused of robbing an Anaheim cafe owner. They are held in jail in default of $2500 bail each.

Claims Mate Made Threats. An asserted threat to kill her several suicide notes intended to frighten her, and frequent blows and curses, one violent scene being enacted on the streets of Long Beach, were alleged cruelties inflicted by Chris Chigaras upon his wife, Gene Chigaras, of Anaheim, according to her divorce petition in the superior court today.

The couple married at Riverside in 1921 and separated January 12, this year. While they were living in Los Angeles in 1922 Chigaras tried to shoot her, she said.

Besides the divorce, Mrs. Chigaras seeks a decree awarding her community property, consisting of a lot at Anaheim, and an automobile.

Asks City for $7300. Mrs. Hortense Vernon, who claimed to have suffered permanent injury when she tripped over an uneven bit of sidewalk at Huntington Beach, today asked $7300 damages against the city of Huntington Beach and E. M. Billings, street superintendent there, in a superior court action filed jointly with her husband, Charles Vernon.

Mrs. Vernon was walking along Sixth street, between Orange and Olive streets, at Huntington Beach, on the evening of January 18, 1924, and stumbled over a projecting slab of sidewalk, at a point where the walk had buckled. Her spine and knees were permanently injured, she stated. The sum of $5000 was asked for the injuries, $300 for medical expense, and $2000 was demanded by the husband for loss of his wife's services.

Coughs Always
Dangerous—Quick
Way to Stop Them

Chronic coughs and chest colds often lead to more serious trouble. Not only is the infection itself dangerous, but the continual coughing spells day and night so weaken your entire system that you can no longer fight off disease.

So stop a cough the quickest way you can. Do this by using the genuine Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. Doctors say there is nothing like pine-tar extract to quickly loosen and remove the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the cough, while the honey both gives a pleasant taste and helps soothe irritation. The quick relief to the stubbornest cough often seems almost magical.

But be sure you get the genuine Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey, and no substitute. Dr. Bell's is the original pine-tar honey and has been known for over a quarter of a century as the best. It is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine-tar, honey and other quick-acting, healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in quick relief. Contains no opiates or other harmful drugs so can be given even to young children—safe for spasmodic cough. If you want the best, medicine that often relieves the severest cough overnight, make sure you get Dr. Bell's. Only 50c at any good druggists.

AROUND THE COURTHOUSE

Brief News of Courts and County Officers

Seeks $10,000 Damages. Filing a $10,000 damage suit in the superior court against Mr. and Mrs. William Wickert, Howard B. Drake today had taken steps to obtain permanent compensation for an alleged automobile collision on East Chapman avenue, Fullerton, March 2, 1924. Drake, a minor, is suing through his father, W. M. Drake. The boy claimed he sustained a gash on the upper lip which permanently scarred his face.

Says Mate Has Hid Kiddies. Alleging that her estranged husband has secured possession of their two children and is keeping them hidden from her, Mrs. Mary June McPherson, of Orange, today asked the superior court for a decree of divorce and custody of the children. She charged desertion and non-support. Following their separation in December, 1923, an agreement was said to have been made, by which the children were left in the care of a Mrs. Miller at Orange, McPherson contributing a weekly sum for their support. In November, 1924, he called at the house and said he wanted to take the children for a short automobile ride, his wife said. He failed to bring them back.

4 SIGN LEASES FOR DRILLING AT GREENVILLE

Further interest was created in the activity of the Standard Oil Company in its leasing operations in the Greenville district with an announcement that Stephen Gilset, Will W. Armstrong, A. T. Armstrong and R. L. Tedford had signed leases with the big company.

The total acreage represented by the signers is 304 acres, being divided as follows: Gilset, 54; Tedford, 80; W. W. Armstrong, 120, and A. T. Armstrong, 50.

According to D. A. Bear, a land owner in the district, it has been intimated to him that the oil company contemplates securing leases as far east as the San Joaquin ranch, touching that property in the vicinity of the Dyer sugar factory plant.

Operations of the company point to efforts to secure leases on territory approximately a mile in width, north and south, and extending from a point west of Greenville east to the Irvine ranch, Bear said.

Bear has not yet given a lease on his acreage, located on the corner of Wakeham road and Bear road. He has an appointment to meet R. L. Laird, an oil company representative, tomorrow, when it is probable negotiations for a lease will be completed.

Carries Royalty. It was learned today that the lease offered carries a royalty of one-sixth of the oil produced on any of the leases, the leases being individual and not community. The company is obligating itself to pay a bonus of $3 a month per acre up to a period of three years, unless drilling operations are started before that time.

Bear said that he had failed in efforts to ascertain whether the company had as yet decided upon which piece of property it would sink its first well.

"Representatives are close-mouthed about contemplated operations by the company," Bear said.

U. S. NOT INVOLVED, PRESIDENT CLAIMS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President Coolidge strongly supports Secretary Hughes' statement denying that the United States, in signing the Paris reparations agreement, had become involved either morally or legally in European entanglements or commitments, it was said at the White House today.

Claims that America had become involved in European affairs are looked upon by the President as unimportant gossip, a White House spokesman said.

The senate took its first official notice of the Paris pact when Borah obtained unanimous consent to insert in the Record the United Press dispatch of yesterday containing the views of Secretary of State Hughes on the agreement.

BRITISH CABINET REAL "BALDWIN"

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The newly formed cabinet, already hailed as a "ministry of silk hats" and a "cabinet of Londoners," has achieved another distinction that is likely to prove the nickname "baldwins," already given by the press, most appropriate.

For most of them are bald. Only Lord Birkenhead, the secretary for India, and Austin Chamberlain, foreign minister, can boast of anything like an abundance of hair on their heads, and Mr. Baldwin himself exhibits a distinct cleavage between the desert and the oasis.

Too Late to Remedy. The rest are beyond all aid of paraffin, coconut oil or the thousand and one other preparations guaranteed to cover even a billiard ball with a luxuriant foliage. Unkind critics say that never before has the old phrase "leather headed" been so strikingly illustrated.

The war minister, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, is accounted the baldest of the "baldwins."

Let Holmes protect your homes.

The Boulder Dam Project

By William J. Carr, Pasadena
(A series of articles, one to appear each week on the Boulder Dam Project will appear in The Register. William J. Carr, writer of this series of articles on the Boulder Canyon Project was a member of the State Senate from 1912 to 1922. He is a director and vice-president of Boulder Dam association, an organization consisting of some two hundred cities, counties, chambers of commerce, farm bureaus, Legion posts and civic organizations, associated together to forward the project. He has closely followed its development for several years, and is accurately informed in respect to its various aspects.—Editor Register.)

The "Boulder Canyon Project" takes its name from the fact that it centers largely about a proposed government dam in the Colorado river where the river forms the boundary line between Arizona and Nevada. Here the river flows through a series of deep and narrow canyons or gorges generally known as Boulder Canyon. In this Canyon there are at least two very wonderful natural dam sites. One is at the head of the canyon a short distance below the mouth of Boulder Creek. The other is about 30 miles lower at what is technically Black Canyon. A dam at either one of these sites will flood substantially the same territory. They are generally spoken of as the upper and lower Boulder Canyon sites. The Black Canyon or lower site is preferred by the Reclamation Service engineers.

The dam is to be 550 feet in height and will create a reservoir of a storage capacity of 26,000,000 acre feet of water. While the dam and reservoir will exceed in magnitude anything of their kind in the world, the cost of the dam will be relatively small because of the unusual natural advantages of the site.

The release of the water stored in the reservoir will furnish power or heads sufficient for the generation of 550,000 firm or constant horse power of electricity. It is from the disposition of these power heads or rights that the entire cost of the dam, estimated at $11,500,000, is to be met. The project does not contemplate the Federal Government entering into the power business, but merely licensing different agencies to use these heads for the generation of power in plants which they will themselves construct.

The main reclamation feature of the project consists of a canal starting at Laguna Dam near Yuma and running entirely within the United States to the Imperial Valley, for the better irrigation of land embraced in the Imperial irrigation district and to serve land in the Coachella Valley County Water District as well as a large body of public land not within the boundaries of either of these districts. The estimated cost of this canal is between thirty and thirty-one million dollars, and is to be borne by the land served by it. Imperial Valley is now served by a canal running some sixty miles through Mexico.

The construction of the dam will also make possible the reclamation of other lands in the lower Colorado River basin, but plans for the reclamation of these are not as yet fully matured.

Enough has been said to indicate that this great project has been shaped to serve various purposes. These are:

1. It will fully protect the Imperial, Yuma and Palo Verde Valleys from a very serious and ever increasing flood menace. The Imperial Valley lies in a great basin or sink some 300 feet lower than the channel of the river. It has no outlet. The breaking of the river from its present uncertain and fluctuating bed, likely to occur during any flood, means the permanent inundation and destruction of the valley.

2. Each year the amount of silt deposited by the Colorado river is over 100,000 acre feet or more in volume than all the earth excavated in digging the Panama Canal. This tremendous volume of material not only greatly aggravates and increases the flood menace to the Imperial Valley, but the large quantity of silt being carried into the valley through the canal system forces the Imperial Irrigation District to keep raising the banks of its distributing canals until they are now ten feet and more above the level of the surrounding country. It is estimated that the cost to the District and the farmers of Imperial Valley, because of this silt is over $1,500,000 a year. A dam at Boulder Canyon will intercept nearly all of the River's silt burden.

3. It will assure the Imperial Valley an adequate and dependable water supply which it does not now have and in addition a large amount of land now desert and arid, and which cannot be served by existing canal systems, will be reclaimed and irrigated. Last year, for seventy-six days, the Imperial Irrigation District diverted all of the water of the river at its intake and then did not have nearly enough to irrigate the land in the Valley. It is estimated by the Farm Adviser of Imperial County that the season's crop damage in the Valley by reason of water shortage amounted to about $5,000,000.

4. Not only will the water released from the reservoir create power rights from the disposition of which the dam may be financed—in itself a very important consideration—but the power derived from the dam will be cheap and abundant and is greatly needed in California, Arizona and Nevada. The desirability of this source of power is well illustrated by a statement of its cost. Government reports show that an allottee or licensee of power privileges at the dam may pay its share of the cost of the dam, pay for its power plants and transmission lines, and deliver power at a central station near Los Angeles at a cost of four tenths of a cent per kilowatt hour, at which price, it will be able to pay all interest charges on its investment, depreciation, operating expense and in addition retire its entire capital investment in less than forty years.

5. A great reservoir at Boulder Canyon means the full conservation of the flood and waste waters of the river, and will make it possible for a large number of rapidly growing cities in Southern California to secure an additional supply of domestic water from the Colorado. Without such large storage and conservation, water for this purpose will not be available.

This in brief is the Boulder Canyon project and an outline of the great public interests which will be served by its consummation.

ARREST EVANGELIST AS MEETINGS START

CHINO, Jan. 20.—F. E. Dyer, alias Elmer Dier, preacher and evangelist, who has been conducting services in Chino for the past few days, was arrested Friday by Marshal Mogle on a charge that he deserted his wife and minor child in Seattle, Wn., and for alleged embezzlement of a couple.

Late Friday evening Mr. Mogle received a telephonic warrant for the arrest of Dyer. The warrant was sent from officials in Seattle and instructions were to hold the man in the county jail until they came after him.

On Thursday the man came to Chino and declared that he had authority from Los Angeles Pentecostal league to conduct two weeks' evangelistic campaign in the Four Square Gospel on Tenth street. He signed his name as Elmer Dier. Following his arrest, he was locked up in Chino for the night. In the morning, Chino officials took him to San Bernardino to the county jail. The Seattle officials are expected to arrive Monday and to identify the man.

The couple is in the possession of Marshal Mogle and will be turned over to Seattle authorities when they arrive. The car was stolen from Seattle, it is charged.

Figures issued by the International Labor Office of the League of Nations show that thirteen nations have ratified the convention prohibiting the night work of women and minors.

P.-T. A. HEARS NURSERY MAN OF SANTA ANA

By BIRDIE BAKER

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Jan. 20.—The regular meeting of the P.-T. A. was held Monday evening in the school library. The men had charge of the pot-luck supper which came off very nicely with Bob McCoolough, Wallace Gerson, Harry Munz, Marion Umphress, Leighton Phillips, Lloyd Rogers, Allen Wisner and Robert Prior as waiters. The boys stayed for the business meeting and really enjoyed it. They thought that the P.-T. A. was just an old men's club, but they changed their minds after visiting it.

E. U. Fowler from the Atkinson nursery of Santa Ana, presented the school with a Canary Island pine tree to be planted on the school grounds. J. O. Arkley will choose the site.

The crowd was entertained with a full program consisting of piano solo, Dolph Kelsey, trombone solo, Allen Wisner, accompanied by Mrs. J. O. Arkley; cornet solo, Walter Allen, also accompanied by Mrs. Smith, and Jesse Davidson, baritone solo.

D. C. Wetlin, deputy district attorney, gave a talk on "The Average Boy." His idea of an average boy was first, he must study and pass all his grades; second, he must exercise and get into school athletics; third, he must be active in religious things.

He said it is the parents' responsibility whether or not the boy or girl amounts to anything in life. The juvenile court of Orange county last year handled eighty boys and twenty-three girls under eighteen years of age. He said that there were 295 children in all handled inside and outside of court which is almost one boy or girl each day in Orange county alone. The average criminal age is twenty-four. Altogether Mr. Wetlin gave a very interesting talk.

Mr. Hoenschel announced that the school enrollment has passed the 200 mark.

Next, Mr. Krutzinger entertained the crowd with a tenor solo. This program was followed by the business meeting. The minutes were read and reports were heard from the different committee chairmen. Mrs. J. O. Arkley, treasurer, announced that after the entertainment given in the grammar school auditorium, Friday evening, $74.85 is now in the treasury. She is also the chairman of the membership committee and announced that there are 54 members at present.

Plans for the February meeting were discussed and it was decided that the parents conduct a night school.

The next meeting is the twenty-eighth national birthday of the P.-T. A. and will be celebrated with a birthday cake. Reports of district convention held at Anaheim were read by Mrs. Ben Day, who was appointed delegate to the meeting. A committee consisting of Miss Frances Barbour, Mrs. J. O. Arkley, and Miss Josephine Brubaker were appointed by the president to decide what would be bought for the teachers' rest room. A parliamentary drill was conducted by Miss Barbour, after which the meeting adjourned.

DEFENSE DAY MAY BE ANNUAL EVENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The war department has tentatively decided to continue each year the defense day activities, according to Brigadier General D. E. Nolan, deputy chief of staff.

"The test gave commanders and reserve officers," said Nolan, "a specific problem as to what they would do in their own communities if they got orders to mobilize, how they would feed the men, where they would house them and so forth."

Nolan said the final check on defense day activities showed that more than 10,000,000 men turned out and participated. They were not all soldiers, but there were "a million and some odd one-day volunteers," he said.

"It would be well to confine the defense test, in the future," he said, "to young men who would be available in case of war. I don't know as we contemplate any restriction on it, however. The effort was to get men who had been in the war as soldiers to volunteer and march with the units."

"In other words, although they were in civilian uniform, those were world war veterans who for that day joined local reserve units and marched with them and recreated interest. But the officers had a distinct problem and that was how they would quarter and feed these men. They had to submit their written solution. Some of them were very poor and some were very good. This would all be improved if they had to do it every year."

Nolan revealed that the tests were part of an idea of General Pershing's "to meet the complaint of reserve officers that they had nothing to do."

ANNUAL MEET OF WATER CO. WILL BE HELD IN FEBRUARY

No Fight Is Expected at Election For Representation During Year

CONCERN OPERATING
HERE FOR 40 YEARS

Flow of Water Today Reported at 4500 Inches,
All From S. A. River

The date is approaching for the annual meeting of stockholders of an organization that controls the "life blood" of the Santa Ana valley—the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company—and it is expected that the board of directors will gather at the office at 9 a. m., February 3, wait around for an hour or two for stockholders to appear, and then adjourn without action because of the absence of a quorum. At least this has been the history of the annual meetings for many years past, the failure of stockholders to take sufficient interest in the meeting to attend being taken as a compliment to the board of directors. By their non-appearance, the stockholders indicate they are satisfied with the manner in which the business of this most important organization is conducted.

Nothing appears on the surface at this time that would warrant the statement that a fight is developing for the election of a new man to the board to represent any of the districts within the area served by the irrigation company.

The personnel of the present board is representative of various important sections of the district. The members are A. N. Saxton, Orange; W. A. Greenleaf, Santa Ana; L. L. Marchant, Tustin; A. M. Robinson, El Modena; and C. A. Palmer, Olive.

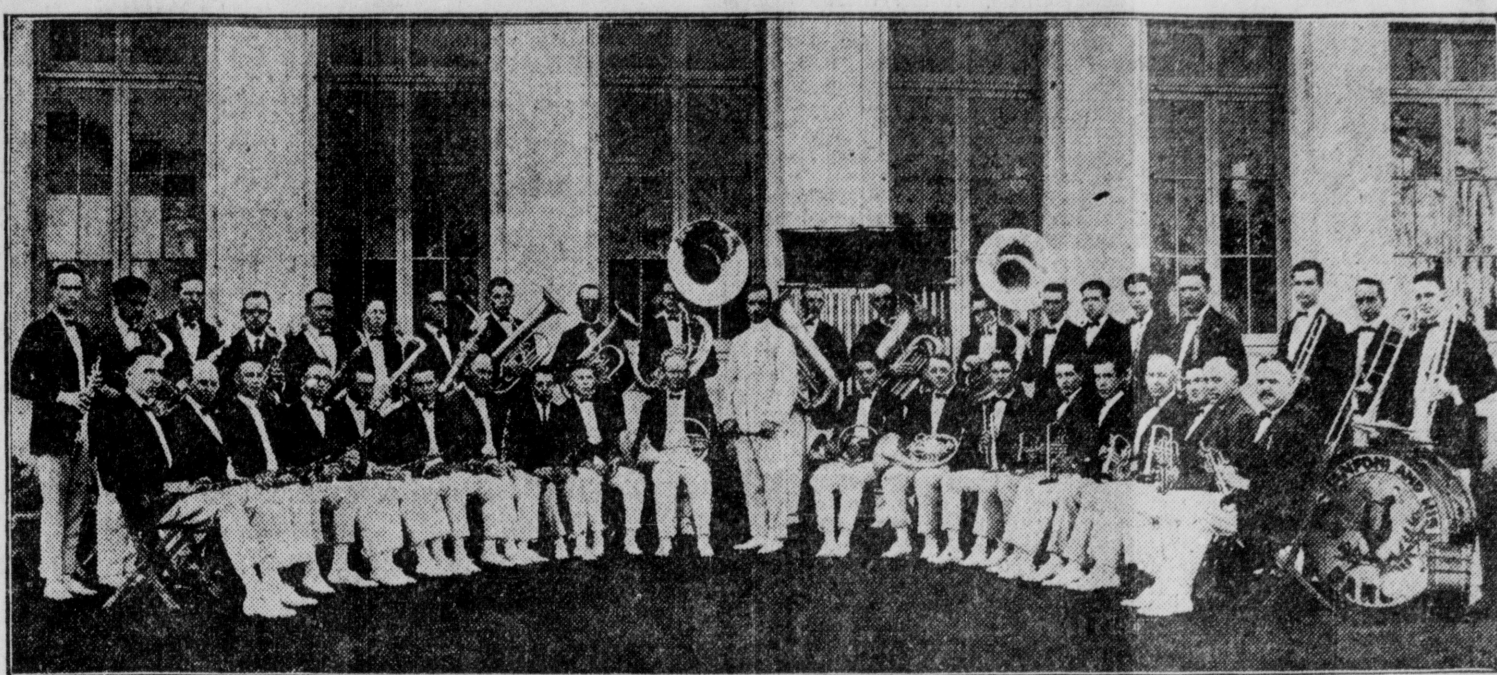

As in other districts of California, water is king here, and the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company for more than 40 years has demonstrated its efficiency in equal distribution of the life giving fluid to lands within the scope of its service.

The source of the principal supply is the Santa Ana river, the flow of the stream being sufficient to meet the demands of irrigators except in the summer months, when the volume is augmented by wells owned and operated by the company, and by wells under private ownership. The latter are made available only when there is an extreme shortage in the summer months—and in the past two or three years private owners have contributed volumes to the supply of the company and have been of material assistance to the company in meeting demands of citrus and walnut growers.

Today 4500 inches, or 45 heads, were flowing into the ditches of the company, all of the water coming from the river. According to Ozro Mansur, secretary, this big volume of water was being used completely.

Water is now on application, the rate being 30 cents an hour for a head. This is more than a third less than the charge during the peak demand of the summer months, when the rate usually is $1 an hour.

COMMUNITY VOCALISTS WILL APPEAR IN ENTERTAINMENT TONIGHT TO BE PRESENTED BY SANTA ANA CITY BAND

The Santa Ana Municipal Band, directed by D. C. Cianfoni, will present second recital of the season in the high school auditorium this evening.

SUPERVISORS FAVOR MOVE TO RAISE GASOLINE TAX AND INCREASE AUTO FEES

Having supported resolutions adopted by their state convention, favoring increase of the gasoline tax 1 cent a gallon, increase of the automobile license fee from $3, the present amount, to $5 per year, and legislation to finance war on the citrus white fly, members of the Orange county board of supervisors were home today from Sacramento, where the convention was held late last week.

Chairman T. B. Talbert and Supervisors Leon Whitsell and George Jeffrey attended the convention. Whitsell is chairman of a committee appointed by C. H. Hecke, head of the state department of agriculture, to conduct the campaign against the white fly, which is now a serious pest in northern counties.

The convention of supervisors endorsed this campaign, when the matter was brought before them by Whitsell. An appropriation to finance the war was heartily favored. Whitsell announced today that Assemblyman S. C. Hartman, of this county, will shortly introduce a bill calling for the necessary appropriation.

A "string" was attached by the supervisors to the proposal for a 1 cent increase of the gasoline tax. That was the proviso that the revenues thus gained be applied wholly to construction of trunk lines of the state highway system and the four laterals making interstate connections, at Yuma, Needles, Big Pine and Truckee.

The state would receive all monies proposed to thus be raised.

JR. CHAMBER TO OFFER SATIRE AT NEXT MEET

A one act satire, "Food," written by William C. De Mille, Hollywood movie director, will be presented at the Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting at Ketter's cafe next Monday evening, it was announced at the directors' session yesterday afternoon. The play is being directed by Ernest Crozier Phillips, director of the Community Players. The three characters will be played by Emil Faust, Madeline Moase and Reuel Yount.

Included on the program will be a short talk on a topic of general interest, songs by the chamber quartette, consisting of Willard Lutz, Carl Opp, Ray Simpson and Dr. L. L. Collins, and a debate between high school students on whether Santa Ana should have a civic center.

The committee in charge of the program consists of Harry Joyce, chairman; William McElhannon, Roy King, G. F. Wheeler and T. F. Ham.

William Iverson, chairman of a committee arranging for the entertainment at the open forum at St. Ann's Inn on Thursday evening, stated that short talks would be given by Lin Crawford, president of the junior chamber; Brice Switzer, secretary, and Fred Forgy, one of the leading members. A number of entertaining features are being arranged, Iverson said.

The open forum will start at 7:30 o'clock and close at 9:30 o'clock. No meal will be served.

A committee consisting of Charles Kendall, chairman; Ed. Holmes and Dr. Wehrly was appointed by President Crawford to investigate the report that certain municipal work is being taken to Los Angeles.

Music and its charms will sway the audience at Santa Ana High school auditorium tonight when the fifth number of the Music-Drama entertainment course will offer the Municipal band in recital directed by D. C. Cianfoni.

Tickets are exchangeable at Santa Ana bookstore and Robert I. Brown, one of the principal workers among the talented folk of the city who have combined to form the Music-Drama association, today stated that the advance sale had been most satisfactory. Late arrivals may be accommodated at the high school tonight.

The Municipal band is making its second appearance of the season and those who so keenly enjoyed the initial concert have been assured that it will be excelled by tonight's program. The numbers will be extremely varied, ranging from light opera, such as selections from Victor Herbert's "The Red Mill," to the classical music of such master composers of grand opera as Donizetti, Verdi and Rossini.

To lend variety and even greater interest to the evening, a group of the community's favorite vocalists will assist on the program. Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh whose velvety contralto voice is the joy of her friends and Marie Bishop, whose return to the city's musical life was hailed with so much pleasure, will appear in quartette and sextette work with Ray Miles and Dr. L. L. Collins, tenors; Robert L. Brown, baritone and Maurice Phillips, bass.

The quartette from "Rigoletto" and the famous "Lucia" sextette will be sung by members of the group as their leading numbers. The concert is scheduled to begin at 8:15 o'clock and everything seems highly propitious for the success of the evening. Friends and warm admirers of the Municipal band and Director Cianfoni are bespeaking the most successful appearance in the history of the organization.

It was remembered that at the initial performance at the beginning of the season, Director Cianfoni was quite ill—a fact unexpected by the audience but which caused the members of the band and those who knew the situation, grave concern. He declares, however, that he never felt in finer physical condition than today, and anticipates an unprecedented success for the band—an organization whose place in his heart is shared only with the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra, another musical unit of the Music Drama association.

GETS SUSPENDED
TERM OF 60 DAYS
Daniel Hernandez, Los Angeles, was at liberty today under a suspended sentence of 60 days in the county jail, having been found guilty yesterday by Justice K. E. Morrison in connection with a charge of robbery.

Circumstantial evidence told against Hernandez, there being no direct proof that he was the hold-up man who relieved J. Eymann of a watch recently. It was found, however, that Hernandez had subsequently pawned the watch.

TRAVEL BOOKS ARE ADDED AT S. A. LIBRARY

New books recently added to the Santa Ana Public Library shelves embrace travels in many lands including China, Sweden, France, Canada, America and other countries.

MYSTERY MAN AT HOSPITAL WON'T SPEAK

Stranger Picked Up In Street Is Unable to Give
Name or Residence

Unable to give his name, age or residence, and seemingly demented, a man who was arrested here on January 15, is being watched closely at the Orange county hospital, where he was taken at the time for observation. Police hope they soon may be able to identify the stranger. Five days have passed and not a word has come from the mouth of the man.

He was noticed on the streets of Santa Ana on January 15, sitting at various street crossings on the pavement, with his feet in the gutters. When picked up by local officers, he was unable to say anything.

The man's mind is possibly a blank temporarily and that eventually he will regain control of his brain is the hope of the police who fear he has strayed to Santa Ana, not knowing where he is and remembering nothing of his past life.

He has noticed nothing at the hospital and when spoken to returns a blank stare. Only once did he seem to know what was going on around him. A four-year-old boy walked by him and he stretched out his hand, but said nothing. Repeated attempts to make him talk and notice his surroundings have proved unsuccessful.

The man is described as 35 years old, six feet in height and weighs 170 pounds. He is well dressed, and has a long, thin face with a long prominent nose.

In his pockets was found a knife with the initials R.W.Y., on it, a map of Los Angeles and a paper bearing the name of a Pasadena shoe store.

TAKE ONE-ARMED MAN FOR HEARING

William B. Chambers, the one-armed Orange civil engineer who was being held in the Orange county jail for San Francisco officers in connection with the alleged forgery of a $1500 draft at a San Francisco bank in December, was taken north last night for a hearing.

Chambers was arrested in Orange last Friday by Motorcycle Officer L. E. Hurd, on information secured from the California Bankers association, after a check on a Chicago bank had been cashed in San Francisco by a man bearing Chambers description.

ON WORLD TRIP

HARRY HOLMES

SECRETARY TO TALK BEFORE STUDENT BODY

Harry Holmes, national Y. M. C. A. secretary of Australia, is to appear before the students of the Santa Ana high school at assembly tomorrow morning at 9:35 o'clock, it was announced by Edward Hummel of the high school, who is in charge of assembly programs.

On a tour around the world with the idea of building up a better understanding among nations, he is to speak here through arrangements made by Ralph Smedley, general secretary at the local Y. M. C. A. Smedley said his talk would bear on topics relating to good citizenship.

The program will be enhanced by musical chorus selections by the high school girls' glee club under the direction of Miss Louise Mansfield.

Next week at the assembly program the Pomona Men's Glee club is to give the entertainment. The date has been set for Friday at 2:10 o'clock. An admission charge of ten cents to students and twenty-five cents to townspeople is to be levied for the Pomona Glee club program to cover expenses, according to Hummel.

TO WEAR GAY GARB IN SCHOOL OPERA

Costumes for the operetta "Sylvia," to be given at the high school auditorium, January 23, 8 o'clock, by the pupils of Julia C. Lathrop junior high, are of various dainty colors and are trimmed with white lace and velvet ribbon. The hats are wide-brimmed with full crowns of the same color as the dresses. The dresses are old-fashioned, with puffed sleeves, basque waists and full skirts.

Appreciation and thanks to the parents as well as to Miss Foster for their wonderful spirit of co-operation in making the costumes is expressed by the students who are working hard to make it a success.

The art classes are working diligently on posters and signs to advertise the operetta, "Sylvia."

NEW BUILDING REGULATIONS WILL REDUCE FIRE DANGER

More Severe Restrictions
Will Bring Insurance Cut,
City Council Hears

LOOK FAVORABLY ON
ADOPTING NEW CODE

Matter of Outside Firms
Operating Here Without License Is Discussed

Improper building regulations in Santa Ana are responsible for extreme insurance rates on certain properties where buildings have faulty construction, according to statements made to the city council last night by Simon Fluor, former president of the Orange County division of the Los Angeles Builders' exchange, who appeared in the interest of the adoption by the city of a building code to be prepared by a man experienced in the drafting of such documents. Fluor said that preparations were being made to have the expert draw ordinances for each of the municipalities of Orange county, making the codes in all the cities uniform.

Citing a specific instance in which extra insurance rates are imposed, Fluor said owners of business structures who fail to carry a 12-inch firewall to three feet above the roof add not only to their individual insurance rate, but to that of a neighbor. He also asserted that excessive areas in many structures are responsible for higher rates.

Cost of Codes Is $500
It was said by Fluor that the drafting of codes for all the cities would cost approximately $500. The council some months ago passed a motion obligating itself to pay its proportion of such costs and Fluor was advised that Santa Ana would pay its proportionate cost, up to $100, whenever a satisfactory ordinance was presented.

Banana and vendors of other fruits who travel along the street and tie up traffic by halting their cars when purchasers want their commodities will be ruled off the streets within fire district No. 1, if such regulation can be made legally. It was intimated at discussions on the subject. City Attorney Z. B. West Jr. was instructed to make investigations of the law, with a view to preparation of an ordinance covering the point.

As chairman of a committee appointed by the Santa Ana Board of Realtors for the purpose, J. C. Wallace recommended to the board that in a proposed ordinance adjusting the occupation tax assessed against realtors, the fee be made $3 a quarter for each broker and each salesman in the city who has been granted a license by the state real estate department. Wallace suggested that the definition of a real estate broker and salesman recognized by the state department be included in the ordinance. The city attorney was directed to prepare the ordinance in conformity to the suggestions of the board as presented through Wallace.

Point to Outside Solicitors
The legal right of the city to impose a tax on laundries and other business concerns outside the city soliciting business here was discussed. It was pointed out that the outside concerns send representatives into the city to solicit business in direct competition with local concerns.

By REVIEWER

Colleen Moore's embodiment of "Selma Peake" in Edna Ferber's "So Big," current attraction at the West End theater, will stand comparison with the finest screen characterizations. It has vitality and fidelity.

And coming by sharp contrast to her recent flapper roles, it is not only of itself a remarkable performance, but indicates as well the reserve power and versatility of this charming, earnest and gifted young actress.

"So Big" carries the pathetic but indomitable heroine of High Prairie daughter who, after her father's death, goes from comparative affluence and social joys to the mean streets of a disilluminated settlement near Chicago in the '80s.

There she teaches school, becomes the rival of the aggressive "Widow Parlenberg" for the attention of an uncouth farmer, marries him and the day after the wedding is roused by him at four in the morning at his command. "Get up, lazybones, our honeymoon is over; remember you are a farmer's wife now."

From then on, life for "Selma" is a battle and a march through drab scenes of disillusioned love and widowhood, concentrated upon the rearing of her son, "So Big," as embodiment of her ideals.

Through these first scenes, about two-thirds the film, the picture builds and tugs, and reflects the Ferber mood, powerfully. Many of the episodes are poignantly fine.

in quality and a break in mood in the latter part of the picture where the producers left it necessary to build in more action and to provide Ben Lyon, who plays the grown "So Big," with hectic romantic conflict by way of the conventional vamp. There are here also too many anguished close-ups of Colleen.

"So Big" is on the whole a very creditable product, standing out well among the best of early 1925.

POLY FIVE SEEKS GAME WITH 'Y' SQUAD

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

Six months after an unfortunate incident during the Olympic games at Paris marred for a time the good feeling between French and American athletes, the time comes to set ourselves straight on the matter, and give somewhat belated credit where it is due.

The recent return of Dick Hyland, California rugby star and Olympic hero, is the occasion for publishing the true story of the wild afternoon last summer when the Americans won the rugby championship and the "Star-Spangled Banner" was hoisted by French spectators who were busy breaking every American head in sight.

Hyland was the star of the Yankee team which downed the French in the finals in a game featured by slugfests and other demonstrations of exceedingly bad sportsmanship. The French team and spectators earned a bad name that day which has lasted pretty much ever since. It is only fair to point out that Hyland, who had most cause to resent this attitude of his opponents and the spectators, has completely changed his mind and has expressed hope of returning to Paris and playing rugby on a French team.

It is Dick who nailed the French "ace," Jauregui, with a beautiful flying tackle early in the final game and upset the crack player so severely he never got back into the game. Hyland repeatedly raced through the entire French team, dodging and hurdling in what his opponents claimed was unorthodox play. And Hyland, after one scrimmage, was openly punched in the face by the French captain. With remarkable self-control, the Californian avoided precipitating a free-for-all fight on the field and enabled America to win the Olympic championship.

Naturally, Dick couldn't take a punch like that without coming back, so after the game and the flag-raising, he hurried in search of an interpreter and sought out the French captain in the latter's dressing-room. In the presence of a hostile group of streaming, sulky athletes, Hyland, a lone American, invited the French captain to finish the affair.

The latter was a sportsman. He apologized, in the presence of his team-mates, through the interpreter, for the howl explained it had been struck in the heat of combat and the bitterness of defeat, and said he would prefer to shake hands. So Hyland shook and went back to his shower bath.

There was a lot of complaint about American rugby methods and a lot of outspoken dissimulation with the unsportsmanlike conduct of the French spectators that last day. So many Americans got the lasting impression that the French were exceedingly poor sports with no redeeming features in this respect.

Hyland stayed in France to study French, and took a course at the Sorbonne. A natural athlete, he wanted to keep in condition by playing games, and it wasn't long before several French rugby clubs invited him to play with them. He selected the Stade Francais and played at three-quarters, alongside none other than Jauregui. The two became fast friends and made many a long run together.

By the time Hyland came to leave for home, he was an athletic hero over there. They gave him a big dinner and made speeches about him, and Hyland honestly returned the compliments.

"My impression of French sportsmanship has much changed for the better since that game six months ago," Hyland said. "The French have treated me wonderfully well and I can tell my teammates and friends in the United States that that rugby affair was most unfortunate and a gross exaggeration of French feeling."

"I am looking forward to returning to France and to playing again with a French team."

WANT REVENGE FOR SPANKING OF LAST WEEK

High School Quintette to Oppose Whittier Friday; Seigel Eligible Feb. 1

Preparatory to its second dive into Coast league inter-scholastic basketball waters, Santa Ana high school's scrappy basketball team today opened negotiations for a match game here tomorrow night with Coach R. R. Russell's Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. quintette. The challenge for the return battle was hurled by Ed Covington, head coach at Poly.

When the quintettes tangled last week, the "Y" men won, 17 to 16, after a most spectacular fight in which victory was never assured until the last second of play. The high school melon-throwers claim they beat themselves by poor conversion of foul shots that night and wanting another hard practice go anyway didn't make any bones about the fact that they would like it to be with the "Y" tomorrow.

Coach Lyman Kidman put his squad through a strenuous workout yesterday and another long spell was scheduled for this afternoon. Kidman believes that practice and games will put his men on edge for Friday's league combat at the "Y" gymnasium with Whittier high school.

Against Long Beach, Poly showed a good defense, at least a knowledge of basketball fundamentals and the team as a whole didn't suffer much in comparison with the veteran Long Beach aggregation which is expected to win the championship.

The Whittier troupe comes here also with a veteran team to throw against Santa Ana's inexperienced five. Every man on the Post starting list wears a monogram for service to the court team last year so Kidman's outfit has another tough assignment on its hands.

Seigel, center and the leading basket-shooter on the Poly contingent who was ruled ineligible the day of the Long Beach game, will be out of Friday's affair with the Poets and also with the third league go January 30 at San Diego. He will be eligible, however, for the last two league events with Pasadena and Fullerton.

Seigel, it was found, will not have completed his full year in school until the beginning of the next semester which opens February 2. After that he will be available for duty. Manderscheid will play center until Seigel is back in suit.

CHAMPAGNE, Ill., Jan. 20.—Harold ("Red") Grange, all-American grid star of the University of Illinois, today definitely turned down a five weeks' screen contract which would net him $25,000 next summer. He will stick to the ice business, he told representatives of a New York movie firm seeking his services.

Grange gave as his reasons for turning down the sensational offer that it would violate the spirit of amateur sports.

Grange's meteoric career on the gridiron has one more year to run.

Tale of the Banana Peddler Who Failed to Appreciate Al Schacht's Comedy

BY BILLY EVANS

Evans

L. SCHACHT, who pairs up with Nick Altrock as a member of the team of Altrock and Schacht, baseball comedians, has a keen sense of humor.

Schacht is quick to grasp a situation. His pantomime on the ball field could well be copied by some of the so-called comedians of the films.

Down in Washington they tell this one on Schacht:

Walking down Pennsylvania avenue in Washington, one would think that all the bananas in the world had been consigned to that city. At intervals of about thirty feet are vendors featuring the "banan."

It so happens that a certain Italian merchant looked as if he was to be stuck with some over-ripe fruit that probably wouldn't last through the night. He was loudly calling his wares at a reduced price.

"Tena-a-doz," "Tena-a-doz," shouted the banana dealer in a raucous voice.

Now if there is one pastime that Schacht is partial to, aside from baseball, it is African golf. Al has better control of the club than he ever had of a ball as a pitcher. In fact, he's so good he can almost call his point.

As Schacht heard the shout of "Tena-a-doz," over and over again, he briskly walked over to the banana stand and throwing a dime on top of the cart, came right back with:

"Tena-a-doz, Tena-a-doz."

The quip went right over the "Wop." He didn't get Al's stuff, but not caring to lose the sale, he pocketed the dime and passed Schacht a dozen bananas.

A colored merchant close by was seen to smile and reach into his pocket for his bank roll, as a tip to Schacht that he was ready to give him competition with the "bones."

PHILS HOPING TO LAND HIGH POST IN N. L.

Manager Art Fletcher Adds New Pitchers; 2 Veteran Outfielders Must Fight

BY J. S. WASNEY

United Press Staff Correspondent PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—This time of year there is often told the story of the teacher who asked the inevitable "Johnny" what month January is. The erudite youngster is reported to have replied, "January is the month in which Philadelphia wins the National League pennant."

But this year William E. Baker, president of the Phils, is not so wholesale in his predictions. The first division is the best he can presage for his hirelings, but he is confident of a berth in the first four.

When Manager Art Fletcher leads his team to Bradenton, Fla., about March 1, for the spring training period he will take at least seven recruits and twenty of the players, who finished with the Phils last season.

In an effort to bolster the ragged pitching department four new hurlers have been obtained from the minors. Fletcher expects considerable from Jack Knight, Houston; Dana Fillingim, Beaumont; Ray Pierce, Topeka; and Frank Ulrich, Waterbury. Of the veterans, Jimmy Ring, who played the "Iron Man" part in 1924; Carlson, Couch, Hubbell, Oeschger and Betts will be on hand.

In the outfield it is probable that Moke Harper and Cy Williams will be assigned their customary posts, although Harper and Williams are slowing up. Yordy, from the Waterbury club of the Eastern league, is a candidate for a garden berth.

While the Phils' infield last season executed 168 double plays, for a National league record, the quartet was uniformly weak at the plate and Fletcher has three fence busters from the minors who may provide heavy competition in going after the jobs of Holke and Wilson, Ford and Sand. The new comers are Hawks, late of Nashville; Ruber, a Texas league star, and Kimmick of Vernon.

Jimmy Wilson and Dutch Henline no doubt will continue to do the bulk of the catching.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—Pat Mills and Joe Schlucker, lightweights, are billed to go 10 rounds at the Vernon Coliseum fight show tonight. Schlucker is the lad who started the longer bouts here with a 10-round win over Joe Layman, hard-hitting Mexican.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Luis Angel Firpo, who is better at ducking contracts than wild roundhouse rights, cast the first stone at Johnny Dundee today.

"I can't understand how a man of his reputation could have failed to honor his signature," said the hulking South American, referring to Dundee's hasty flight from Paris on the eve of a match with Fred Bretonnel.

Boom Former Yale Pole Vaulter For Golf Group Prexy

ROBERT GARDNER

Robert Gardner, famous amateur golfer of Chicago, is almost certain to be elected first vice president of the United States Golf association at the coming meeting, which practically means he will hold down the executive chair in 1926.

When a student at Yale Gardner held the world record in the pole vault. He was the first man ever to clear 13 feet.

The Referee

What is the lowest batting percentage to ever win the championship in the major league?—F. D.

Larry Doyle, with a mark of 3.20 in 1915, is the lowest figure to ever win in the National, while Ty Cobb, with .324 in 1908, is the lowest average to take the title in the American.

How long has Gene Tunney been fighting and was he ever knocked out?—H. G.

Tunney started during the World war at camp in France. He turned pro in 1919. He has never been knocked out. He has lost only one decision, that to Harry Greb.

Please give all possible dope on Sid Terris, prominent featherweight contender?—H. P. D.

Briefly, Terris has been fighting only a little over two years. As an amateur boxer he hung up the remarkable record of 50 consecutive victories. Since turning pro he has kept up his fine work and is considered a coming champion in the east.

OAKMONT CLUB TO MEET S. A. GOLFERS HERE

First Match Play Over New Local Course Scheduled Tomorrow Afternoon

Back on their own fairways and greens after two weeks "away from home," the Santa Ana Country club's 10-men golf team makes its first start in the Southern California Inter-club league here tomorrow afternoon. Oakmont Country club will come here for the match.

The series will make history in that it will be the first time since the beautiful new course was opened that a regulation match tourney has been held over it.

Having lost both their engagements away from home, reversals that put them in the second division of the league standing, the Santa Ana mashie swingers hope to make up lost ground by decisive victories tomorrow. Oakmont took the measure of the local men, 9 to 6, over their own links last week in matches that were partially played in a rain.

The Hacienda Country club now is leading the league in which Santa Ana is grouped. The La Habra team opened by trimming the locals and came through last week with a 15 to 0 victory over Palos Verdes, now the tailenders.

Santa Ana will be represented against Oakmont by Captain H. B. Van Dien, W. G. Sydney Harris, J. W. Tubbs, Robert Reid, A. C. Twist, C. W. W. George B. Shattuck, J. Fred Parsons, Mark B. Lacy and Hugh Smith.

Oakmont will have J. S. Haywood, F. P. Davis, T. D. Meddick, C. P. Barman, H. Skelton, B. H. Appurs, E. B. Sutton, C. Hodge, D. Green and J. C. Perrin.

SPALDING MAY BE SUCCESSOR TO HENDERSON

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—With Knute Rockne definitely out of the dickering for a new football coach to take the place of Elmer Henderson at the University of Southern California, officials at the Trojan camp today turned to other sources in their search for a grid mentor.

W. H. Spalding of Minnesota is one of those mentioned for the job. U. S. C. athletic authorities, remembering that Rockne's refusal was based largely on "undue publicity" given their negotiations, are extremely secretive about names of others with whom they are dealing on the football situation.

At present W. O. Hunter is directing athletics at U. S. C. It is announced that a coach will be named early next month for the post made vacant by Henderson's withdrawal.

EVENING SALUTATION

Be noble, and the nobleness that lies
In other men, sleeping, but never dead,
Will rise in majesty to meet thine own.
—Lowell.

IT'S WHERE YOU FIND IT

Prospectors used to say that gold is where you find it. It is just as true today of oil. In the eye of the geologist, surface indications have a tremendously high value in fixing the probability of oil beneath the surface.

The fact that geologists of the Standard Oil Company have given encouragement in relation to the likelihood of the location of a pool of oil beneath the Greenville section became known yesterday when it was learned that the Standard is seeking leases in that section. The Standard, at least, is willing to spend some of its money in finding out if the guess of its geologists is correct. The Standard has guessed well, in some instances in this county, and has guessed poorly at other times. Whatever the result, the operations were based on chance, and the Standard knew it.

The leasing of additional lands in this county by the Standard is based, we are informed, on a definite belief on the part of the company that there are one, two or more big oil pools in this county still to be located. The company has leased areas southeast of Anaheim and elsewhere, and by leasing in the Greenville section is evidently carrying out a plan of development in relation to this county that calls for a thorough prospecting of areas recommended to the company by its geologists.

The new year started auspiciously, with Trotzky again disapproving of the United States.

AN HOUR'S WORK

Dr. Howard S. Ross of Montreal, well known as an industrial arbiter, has a novel plan for ending war, both industrially and internationally. He calls it the "equitist plan." It consists in abolishing the gold standard and substituting an hour's work as the unit of value.

There would be a check or some other token representing every hour of work done by an adult human being, and banks would be required to honor these checks on the basis of a dollar an hour. It seems somewhat like the plan proposed by other economists, to make a horsepower or kilowatt-hour the unit in reckoning prices and values of every kind. Only, the adult-work-hour seems far more limited. There could be only about so many of these units, if everybody worked, whereas mechanical power is almost limitless.

It is worth thinking about as a mental diversion, if for no other reason. What a revolution it would make in human life! But in one respect particularly it looks like bad morals and worse economics. It seems to assume that any hour's work is as good as any other hour's work.

Are the street sweeper, the carpenter, the factory boss, the captain of industry, the school teacher, the banker, the drygoods clerk, the stenographer, the poet, the artist, the sailor, the statesman, all to get exactly the same reward for putting in an hour's time on their special lines of work? It seems bad enough when every worker in the same occupation is paid the same. Is there to be no reward for special application or for skill laboriously acquired? May not one man's hour be as productive and valuable as another man's month?

An inventor says steam is going to replace gasoline for automobiles. Hooryay! Then all we shall have to patronize the service stations for is free air and water.

AN AMERICAN DRUG TREATY

The international opium conference under the auspices of the League of Nations was somewhat disappointing to that part of the public ardently desiring an early end of the drug evil. But other recent action bearing on the same matter is more hopeful.

A treaty between the United States and the Dominion of Canada insures more complete and hearty co-operation in fighting the drug traffic on this continent. It provides for the extradition of fugitives from justice wanted in either country for violations of the Narcotic Drugs Act. It supplements a treaty negotiated last June and only recently ratified by the United States Senate, designed to prevent the smuggling of intoxicating liquors and narcotic drugs across the border.

The narcotic drug evil has grown to alarming proportions in America as well as in other parts of the world. The fact that the nations are trying to get together to crush it is at least hopeful. But agreement as to methods seems to be difficult, so that any positive step such as the Canadian-American treaty is doubly welcome.

BANKS' LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

The program of state legislation recommended by the American Bankers association for 1925, as made public by Thomas B. Paton, General Counsel of the organization, contains five measures aimed to bring about uniformity in state laws on various subjects of banking practice. It also proposes twelve laws for better protection of banks in particular transactions and four penal measures relating to criminal operations against banks.

The proposals for uniform state laws relate to acts on bills of lading, warehouse receipts, sales, stock transfer and fiduciaries. The proposed laws for better protection of banks in particular transactions have to do with time limit on "stop payment," payment of stale check, adverse claim to bank deposit, payment of forged or raised check, deposits in two names, deposits in trust, competency of bank and corporation notaries, non-payment of check through error, Saturday afternoon bank transactions, forwarding check direct to payor, filing of federal tax liens, filing and recording lien of federal judgments. The proposed penal laws refer to false statements for credit, slander and libel of bank, draft or check without funds and burglary with explosives.

Drafts of proposed measures on these subjects have been prepared in pamphlet form with a statement of the reasons why their enactment is advisable and distributed among the members of the legislative committees of the various state bankers associations and to members of the American Bankers Association actively interested in their behalf. The by-laws of the association provide for a committee on state legislation and a state legislative council. The duties of the committee include urging the enactment of approved drafts of statutes through the state bankers organization. The council is an auxiliary of the committee, its function being to assist it in the promotion of approved legislation. Under the procedure of the association the initial step in the promotion in any state of recommended legislation is consideration and decision by the appropriate committee of the state bankers association there as to the desirability of action in that state on the subject presented. An exceptionally active year in state legislative work is expected since forty-two of the state legislatures will meet during 1925.

A group of business men who breakfasted recently at the White House doubtless meant well in congratulating the President for not drinking bootleg booze.

Saving a Word

Stockton Independent.

Former Governor Pardee, addressing the Senate the other day, said there should be no higher appellation than politician, although the word has fallen from the heights of English to the depths. He urged public spirited men not to fear being called politicians and to be willing to serve the public whenever needed.

The ex-governor is right—there is no higher or more important duty than serving the state—being a politician (in the good sense). But words are like humans in the matter of reputation and once a word gets a bad name, acquires an evil sense, there is no restoring of its pristine virtue. Words are even more hopeless than persons. You may have a reformed drunkard or a reformed gambler, but not a reformed vocabulary.

Often times in the survival of the fittest and the struggle for existence, a good word crowds out a word which from long usage and association, acquires a bad sense. Unfortunately, however, this has not been the case with either "politics" or "politician." Dr. Jordan pitifully suggested some years ago that all would be well if "politics" could be taken out of politics!

Politician is often contrasted unfavorably with statesman. But that is unfair. Because statesman is the highest type of politician is no reason why politician should be looked at askance. We do not belittle the soldier in the ranks while honoring the hero.

But reason and logic will not bring back the blush to the cheeks of a faded word. We need men to serve the state—politicians—but we need a new word for them. And perhaps the new word through association with politicians, will in time acquire a doubtful sense!

May be the reform must begin with the politicians. Then by reflected light may be the word will cast a cold chaste effulgence like the moon.

Anyway we agree with Dr. Pardee.

Queer Quirk In The Law

San Francisco Chronicle.

It is a queer quirk in the law when a man is charged with manslaughter because of the careless or deliberately criminal act of another, who escapes detection. An autoist driving along the highway at night was blinded by the rays of a searchlight apparently purposely directed upon him. The consequence was he drove his car over an embankment and three of its occupants died as a result of the accident. His explanation of the mishap was accepted by the authorities, who, upon investigation, found it to be true. Nevertheless he was held responsible for the loss of life, put in jail, and must defend himself in court.

Just where the justness of this comes in is hard to figure out. Of course, the man was driving the car and to that extent was responsible for the safety of his passengers; but suppose it had been a speeder who bumped into him and threw him into the ditch instead of some person blinding him with a searchlight, the deaths that resulted would not have been charged to him but to the speeder. Why not hold the man with the searchlight responsible in this case instead of his victim? The real guilty party appears to have all the best of it.

Injustice In Delays

Pasadena Star-News.

"The law's delay," and the cruelty and injustice wrought thereby, long have been proverbial. One phase of this is seen in the postponement of criminal trials. The accused may be innocent of the charge made against him. Yet he must wait in suspense—Mayhap in jail, if he can not make bail—for a long period. A case in point is reported from Massachusetts, where the trial of a physician on the charge of being accessory to a murder has been postponed for more than a year, while a civil suit occupied the attention of the court.

In administering justice through the criminal courts due attention should be given to expeditiousness in trying the accused. It manifestly is unjust to hold a person in custody for an indefinite period without giving that person his chance to face the indictment against him and stand trial before a jury of his peers. In the reforming of legal procedure in this country—so often discussed, but so long delayed—due attention should be given to speeding up the work of the courts.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

WHY CONGESTION OCCURS

You have wondered why someone who has undergone an operation, perhaps had some heart trouble, or even broken a leg, should have a congestion of the lungs, or pneumonia, as it is called. It does seem unfortunate that when a man is "flat on his back" with one serious condition, that his chances of recovery are rendered uncertain by this dread condition in the lungs.

However the lesson in this to you and me, is so important, that it is certainly worth thinking about. That is the whole point in the matter. When a man is severely ill with heart complications, or after a serious operation, it is absolutely necessary that he remain very quiet indeed. In a heart condition, even sitting up might prove his undoing, as that requires twice as much effort on the part of the heart, as lying down.

After an operation, any twisting or turning might interfere with the proper knitting together of the tissues, so that here also lying absolutely quiet is essential. And with a broken leg too, the weight is applied to keep the broken ends of the bones in close contact with one another, and this means that the patient must lie quietly on his back.

What happens to his chest, to his lungs? Why, where he rests on his back, the back of his chest also, the ribs are not able to enlarge the chest outward, when air is drawn in. Where the ribs would spring outward, they are kept stationary because of the weight of the body against the bed. This means then, that the lower part of his lungs at the back, do not get moved much by the air coming in, because the ribs as I said above, cannot enlarge the chest. Thus that portion of the lung doesn't get its share of fresh air, neither can it properly get rid of the waste gas that should be thrown out.

Then when you add to that the sluggishness of the blood circulating in a part that isn't being moved properly, you can readily see that a condition of stasis—lack of movement—is set up. This combination of circumstances by slowing up everything, simply congests the part, and so you have congestion of the lungs—pneumonia. It isn't nice to think about, but it is certainly an object lesson on the value of having your lungs free to expand properly for you.

To a Comfortable Future

The Register Zoo

YOU'VE heard him in the treetops with
His weird and scary, "ho-o-o."
And when he shouts it out at night
'Twill likely frighten you.
His face is very odd because
He always seems to scowl.
He sleeps by day and sees by night,
The funny little owl.

Every-day Honesty

Thomas A. Edison, in a severe criticism of public schools, maintains that their worst defect is the failure to teach "plain, every-day honesty."

There is prevalent in American life, he finds, a sneaking impression that it is not possible to make much money honestly. "This is the most dangerous theory in the youthful mind today, and there is only one way to explode it—by visualizing and proving the facts that have made our business and industrial leaders successful."

"We have got to take our boys and girls behind the scenes of the world's work, and let them see for themselves the economic absurdity that any enduring success or happiness could be built on trickery or fraud or deceit."

Mr. Edison knows what he is talking about. When all is said and done, the most essential thing for youth to learn is morals.

Honesty is fundamental. And it is not enough to write in copy books, "Honesty is the best policy." The child must be persuaded that this is true—that quite aside from the question of personal character and self-respect, dishonesty is really an "economic absurdity," that business cannot be done dishonestly with success for any considerable period of time, and a dishonest society cannot hang together.

How can honesty be taught most effectively? Not, says Mr. Edison, by pointing out the horrible example of crookedness, but by pointing out successful men who have made money honestly.

Mrs. Hews came to see me this afternoon, and they were setting in the parlor tawking to each other about clothes, and I was standing at the window wondering where all the fellows was, Mrs. Hews saying, Well, there's one thing I can tell you, if they're going to make the dresses shorter again next season, I think it's a perfect sin and a shame, do we own our own soles or don't we?

Mrs. Hews being a fat lady and properly looking funny in a short dress on account of even looking funny in a long one, and mad sed. Well what can we do when the dress-makers get together, we're simply their slaves, that's the long and short of the matter in a nut shell. If you want to see a real spectacle, you haven't lived till you see Lillian Larkins in her new so-called fur coat, I saw it last night out laughing, ma sed.

Will you ever forget the season she wore that yellow taffy with the blue rootings? Mrs. Hews sed.

Me thinking, G roozalem, too much clothes.

And I put on my sweater and cap and went out, and Mary Watkins and Maud Johnson was standing down the street tawking to each other, and I went down and stood there and they kept on tawking. Mary Watkins saying, Well, enyways I'm going to have a squirrel coat next year and its going to have an extra wide collar and big perl buttons and its going to be lined on the inside with crepe dee sheen jest like my big sisters.

That awt to be reel pritty, did you ever see anything so crazy as Lorette Mincers green coat with the fur on one side and not the other, if I couldn't have fur on both sides I'd rather not have eny at all, if it was me, Maud Johnson sed.

Me thinking, Aw G, good nite, jimminy crickets more clothes.

And I went around to my cuz-in-Artes house to see if he was home. Which he wasent, but I stayed there and punched his punching bag enyways.

Education Leads to Paths of Peace

The awarding in Los Angeles, last Friday, to David Starr Jordan, Chancellor Emeritus of Stanford University, of the Raphael Herman $25,000 peace prize was an event of great interest and significance. Through everything that was said, both at the luncheon and at the peace award ceremony, there ran a note of subdued but earnest hopefulness rather than of extravagant optimism.

In the schools of today the future of every country is written," said Dr. Jordan.

"More than a generation will be required to change the trend of civilization," said Dr. Thomas. "None of the great problems affecting mankind has been solved by mankind. But—

"Education," he added, "is the only ground on which the nations of the world can hope to meet."

Religion would not serve, because there are too many faiths. Christian does not agree with Christian, nor pagan with pagan. "Education," said Dr. Millikan, "is all that one generation passes on to another, except its germ plasm.

"Civilization," he quoted from Wells, "is a race between catastrophe and education. And if that be true," he continued, "as I believe it is, then education is our only hope."

"There are those who will argue that because human nature always has done so and so, it always will do so and so, that because there always has been war there always will be war. But they who do will find themselves opposing the whole stream of tendency in science and thought. In my own lifetime I have seen all science, all thought, change more than any one science before my time had changed in its entire history."

"In this and every country," said Raphael Herman, donor of the prize, "we have schools for war but none for peace." Teach a world now organized for war to organize for peace, to think in terms of peace, and he believes peace will result. International education in peace is the Jordan program.

Soil Washing Away

A very slow motion picture of a stretch of fine, mellow farm land would show the soil melting away like salt in a wet saucer. Viewed in terms of years instead of seconds, good soil is perishable. Thirty inches of rainfall a year means nearly three hundred feet of rain in a healthy American lifetime.

And every inch of rain that falls washes broken soil a little nearer to the water. The time is not far distant when America will have to start fastening down its most fertile land.

It has been calculated that the Mississippi river sweeps soil into the sea as fast as nine hundred 50-car freight trains a day could carry it. Much of the soil is top soil from fertile farms. Spread out a foot deep it is worth not far from $100 an acre. Erosion steals a million dollars a year or so from the Mississippi basin alone.

Some day the theft will be stopped.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

NO. 8—THE DOLLS BACK HOME

As Sally Wiggleson stood staring into the store window where all the fine wax ladies were, something happened.

But first you must know, if you don't know already, that the fine wax ladies had once been Sally's fifteen dolls that the Fairy Queen had changed with a wave of her wand.

This is what happened. The wax ladies began to cry. Tears rolled down all their cheeks as Sally stood staring.

The steam-pipes in the window had become very hot and that may have had something to do with it, but I doubt it. Steam-pipes are nothing to homesickness.

Sally sighed. "The poor wax ladies are melting," she said. "I'll go into the toy department and see my dear dollies. Oh, I do wish that I had been kind to them. I didn't know I liked them so well. I treated them shamefully and I don't blame them for wanting to come back to the store again."

She turned away and all the wax ladies cried out, "Oh, Sally, here we are! Don't you know us?"

But they cried out silently and Sally didn't hear them.

Besides the window was in between.

Now all this time the Fairy Queen had been watching. There she sat on Two Spot, her blue velvet butterfly.

But nobody thought it strange. They said, "The trimming in the window is lovely. What a pretty Fairy! You'd almost think she was real. And if the butterfly wasn't so huge, you would think it was real, too!"

They didn't say anything about the Twins for they had hidden behind the velvet hangings in the window where they could see but couldn't be seen.

And they saw Sally staring.

—I mean crying.

And the Fairy Queen smiled a little knowing smile.

"These wishes!" she said shaking her head ever so little. "They are to go home again, dears, and be Sally's dollies and have tea-parties and get bathed, even if she does forget to dry you, and—"

—Oh, yes, yes!" cried all the grand wax ladies. "We love Sally and we want to go back."

Sally didn't find her dolls in the toy department after all.

"I'm sure they are here," she insisted.

"They must have been sold," said the clerk.

"Oh!" said Sally and she went sadly home.

But, oh joy! There on the bed were all fifteen dolls in a row. She could hardly believe her eyes.

"Oh, you dears!" she cried hugging them all in a bunch.

Back in the window the store-keeper found nothing but a few drops of grease and a pile of silk dresses and fine furs.

"It was the steam pipes," said he. "They got too hot and the ladies melted."

"No wonder," said a customer. "And all those heavy furs on!"

The Twins and the Fairy Queen and Two Spot had disappeared.
